Allied Bayonets Slash Back Red Flank Attack In Korea

By OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO—(AP)—Allied bayonets slashed back Red attempts to outflank both ends of the central Korean warfront today.

On the left flank, southeast of Seoul, American infantrymen—almost out of ammunition — bared bayonets and charged. They chased the fleeing Chinese survivors half a mile.

Pressure Continues

The doughboys killed some 56 Reds. Artillery already had killed about 100 of a dug-in force of 300.

On the right flank of the relatively quiet central front, South Korean infantrymen used bayonets and grenades to throw back Chinese troops north of Chechon. But Communist pressure in that mountainous sector continued.

On the western front south of Seoul, an American tank-infantry patrol ran into more than 500 Chinese just south of the Han river. The Reds were dug in but lost at least 100 men.

Losses Over 100,000

Action all along the curving battlefront was relatively small in comparison with fighting in the past five days, in which a Communist drive on the central front was checked.

The Eighth Army counted Red casualties at 4,935 for Thursday, of which 2,275 were on the central front between Chipyong and Wonju. This brought to more than 100,000 the Red losses since the allied limited offensive jumped off Jan. 25.

Friday's action on the right flank of the central front indicated the Chinese may have shifted much of their strength to the area north and northwest of Chechon.

Reception Rough

They struggled over some of the highest ridges on the backbone of the peninsula to apply reinforced pressure to Chechon, 14 miles southeast of the major road hub of Wonju.

A South Korean regiment was ready for them at one point. There the Chinese met stern resistance 10 miles north of Chechon. First reports indicated more than 2,000 Chinese were being held off.

Bonus Question Goes On Ballot

Michigan War Death Benefits Proposed

LANSING — (AP)—The voters will decide April 2 whether Michigan should pay a $500 death benefit to the relatives of Michigan men killed in Korea.

The legislature put that question on the ballot yesterday in the form of an amendment to the World War II veterans' bonus.

It would permit $40,000,000 worth of unused bonus money to be spent for the duration of the present emergency.

Senator Harry F. Hittle (R-East Lansing) said 246 men have been killed in "our police action in Korea" and that the benefits accrued to date would total $123,000.

The senate approved two other proposed constitutional amendments in a rush to get them on the April ballot before the deadline Tuesday.

One would forbid anyone to sit in the legislature who had been convicted of a felony.

The other would allow justices of the state supreme court to receive pay raises voted them three years ago but which have been withheld under a constitutional ban on raising judges' wages during their term of office. The judges' terms run six years.

Democrats fought the felons-bar on legislators because the Republican majority refused to broaden it to cover men who have confessed to crimes and received immunity for turning state's evidence.

The senate passed, then defeated, then passed again the judges' pay amendment.

White-Walled Tires Banned; Save Rubber

WASHINGTON—(AP)— The National Production Authority prepared for probable issuance today an order under which manufacture of white-walled tires and the fancier lines of some other rubber products would be stopped.

As projected, it would ban the use of new rubber in the making of more than one line, style or color of products for any one purpoose. Items affected would be tires, rubber hose, industrial belts for conveyors and elevators, wire and cable.

White-walled tires would be banned specifically under the order, designed to save rubber for military and essential civilian needs.

Officials said solid dark tires can be made with 10 per cent less natural rubber than those with white walls.

Chrysler Buys Big Proving Ground Tract

DETROIT—(AP)— Chrysler Corporation revealed tooday that it is the purchaser of a 3,800 acre "mystery tract" in Washtenaw county's Sylvan township.

The automotive firm said it would use the tract, located about 13 miles west of Ann Arbor, as a proving ground for its passenger cars and trucks.

Michigan GOP All In Harmony For Spring Convention

By JACK I. GREEN

DETROIT —(AP) Michigan Republicans assembled for their spring state convention today in such harmony that they risked not staying awake for their Saturday nominating speeches.

Only one contest was definite for the entire G. O. P. state ticket to face the voters at the April 2 general election.

That was for one of the nominations to the Board of Regents of the University of Michigan, the one left by the recent death of Ralph A. Hayward of Kalamazoo.

Five Out For Regent

There were at least five candidates still in the field for the regent's post.

The race appeared to be between Leland I. Doan of Midland, president of the Dow Chemical company, Harold A. Fitzgerald, publisher of the Pontiac Press, and former Senator James T. Milliken of Traverse City. Milliken had the disadvantage of being a Yale student running for a post traditionally given to graduates of Michigan only.

Dr. Arthur J. Bolt of Muskegon and Guy C. Conkle, Boyne City attorney, were also in the running.

Apparently no one will contest with Roscoe O. Bonisteel of Ann Arbor for renomination to the other regent's position.

There were hints of a contest for Forest H. Akers of Detroit for renomination to the state board of agriculture, governing body of Michigan State College. George Farley, member of a prominent Albion-area farm family, may make the race against Akers. No opposition was sighted for Akers' seat-mate, Frederick H. Mueller of Grand Rapids.

Duff Is Keynoter

Dr. Lee M. Thurston, state superintendent of public instruction, is expected to be renominated without opposition.

Charles G. Burns of Grosse Pointe Park may have Detroit-area opposition for renomination to the state board of education.

No heads appeared in opposition to the renomination of Supreme Court Justices Emerson R. Boyles and Neil E. Reid.

Owen J. Cleary of Ypsilanti, is expected to be reelected G. O. P. state chairman without any trouble.

Senator James H. Duff of Pennsylvania, the new "boss" of the Keystone state, will keynote the convention.

Wife Acquitted In Cuban Court

Detroit Woman Free In Strange Trial

SANTIAGO, Cuba— (AP) —Attractive Georgia-educated Karen Nelson, 26, was acquitted by a Cuban court yesterday on charges she plotted the death of her sugar planter husband to claim $30,000 insurance.

It was one of the strangest murder trials in Cuban history. Only one trial witness — Enrique Bringerzu—said a crime had been committed. He testified Mrs. Nelson conspired with two plantation employes to do away with Alvar Nelson, 31, her husband.

A police investigator denounced Bringerzu as "a disreputable character who once was discharged by the Nelson plantation for inefficiency."

Mrs. Nelson testified her husband was shot when his pistol fell from its holster in the plantation pumphouse Dec. 11, 1949.

Joyful over the court's decision, she broke into tears and laughter. Spectators embraced and congratulated her. Practically every one was convinced of her innocence during the long ordeal. Hurriedly, she left the courtroom with her father-in-law, Swan Nelson, who testified in her behalf. She telephoned the news to her parents in Detroit, Mich. They, too, cried with happiness, she said.

Daughter Married To Shoe Clerk Sues Father For $500,000

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — Industrialist Kurtis Froedtert has been sued for a $500,000 trust fund by his young daughter, Mrs. Suzanne Froedtert Poulos. She claims she has been living meagerly since her marriage to a shoe clerk.

Mrs. Poulos, 21, precipitated a nationwide search five years ago when she ran away from an exclusive boarding school at Madison, Wis. She was found a week later in Detroit in the company of a Madison mechanic.

Froedtert, president of the Froedtert Grain and Malting Co., was ordered Wednesday by County Judge Michael Sheridan to show cause why his daughter should not be given the guardianship fund he established in 1941. Froedtert said he would have no comment "until the proper time comes."

More U. S. Soldiers Leave For Europe Early This Spring

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Indications today were that the first additional American division to be dispatched to Europe probably will be on the way early this spring, perhaps in March.

Secretary of Defense Marshall told two Senate committees the U. S. plans to send four combat divisions—about 100,000 men, including supporting troops—to join the two already there on occupation duty for joint defense of western Europe.

Fourth Infantry Ready

But Marshall's testimony left open the question of what four divisions would go and how soon they would start. On the latter point, he said he preferred not to say.

What divisions may be picked? There are these factors:

The 4th Infantry division, converted last fall from a training to combat outfit, has been organizing, equipping and training at Fort Benning, Ga., for several months. Even though the division is not fully trained, army officials have pointed out that training facilities are available in the American zone of Germany.

There the 4th could be polished into final readiness.

Tank Outfits Handy

In European warfare, because of the terrain, tank outfits have high value in any army. In the United States is the 2nd armored division, at Fort Hood, Tex. Also, plans are underway for an early re-forming of one of the World War II armored divisions.

Then there is available the 82nd Airborne division, a crack outfit which was virtually the only division to be kept at near full-strength level during the pre-Korean days and which since then may have been built up to over-strength proportions.

At present, there still are six National Guard divisions and two guard regimental combat teams now federalized in the United States. Four of the divisions and the two combat teams have been in process of training and completing equipment since last September. Two divisions only recently were inducted into federal service. While the four divisions and two combat teams are not battle ready, they are far enough along so that some or all of them could be sent overseas for non-combat duty.

Chicago Auto Show Opens Saturday For Run Of Nine Days

CHICAGO — (AP) — Motordom's biggest spectacle will open a nine-day run tomorrow. It's the 43rd annual Chicago auto show.

This has been the biggest exposition of its kind since New York abandoned its "national auto show" at the outset of World War II.

Close to a half-million persons are expected to throng the international amphitheater, 42nd and Halsted streets, to view the cars on exhibit from tomorrow through Feb. 25.

They will see 22 passenger car lines and nine truck lines plus equipment, parts, accessories and special models built by manufacturers to test motorists' reaction.

Buick will display its experimental XP-300, a convertible with a 300 horsepower engine and a top speed of 150 miles per hour. It's not for sale.

Ten Percent Wage Raise Ceiling Runs Into Snag

Georgia Budget Bars Negroes From Schools

ATLANTA—(AP)—Georgia's $207,000,000 budget bill, expressly designed to keep Negroes from attending white schools, was in Gov. Herman Talmadge's hands for signature today.

The Georgia legislature completed work on the measure yesterday, writing in the segregation clause at Talmadge's request.

The chief executive, a "white supremacy" advocate, admitted that the bill is designed to void any federal court order to admit a Negro to a white institution.

Funds Cut Off

Under the terms of the legislation any public school or college that admits a Negro under court instructions will automatically stop receiving state support.

Should a court hold such action unconstitutional, then none of the schools in the whole college or public school system would receive any money.

For example, should the University of Georgia be ordered to admit a Negro, no funds would be forthcoming.

If the courts held that the state was being discriminatory and the withholding of funds illegal, then the $12,250,000 set aside for operation of the entire university system would be frozen.

By the same procedure the $81,424,000 set aside for common schools could be withheld.

Court Test Probable

The possibilities that the segregation provisions might be put to the test are not too remote.

There now is pending in federal court here a suit to force admittance of Negro children to the pubic schools.

Further, a Negro has applied for admission to the University of Georgia law school. His application presumably is the first step toward a court fight to open the university to Negroes, at least on the graduate level.

Federal court orders have directed schools in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Virginia and Missouri to admit Negroes under special circumstances.

Each of the suits have been based upon a constitutional interpretation that states are bound to provide equal educational opportunities for both races where segregation exists.

In each case it has been contended that the states have not provided such equality. Segregation has not been the issue.

TIPSY TESTER — Driving drunks won't stand a chance when confronted with this little chemical gadget, "The Drunk-o-meter." The gadget, shown at a traffic conference at the University of Washington, Seattle, measures the alcoholic content of a man's breath. Anything over .15 per cent means he's "under the influence." Dr. C. W. Muehlberger of the Michigan State Department of Health tests the "intoximeter," while Theodore Loveless of the University of Washington looks on.

Defense Tieup With Spain, Greece, Turkey And Tito Considered

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Careful consideration is being given here to the possibility of tying Spain, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey more closely to the Atlantic treaty defense setup in Europe. Officials said today, however, that extremely difficult problems stand in the way.

The possibility of action along this line was pointed up by a brief exchange yesterday during Secretary of Defense Marshall's testimony before the Senate foreign relations and armed services committees.

Would Be Helpful

Marshall was asked what he through about bringing such nations as Spain and Turkey into the defense system. He replied that "any acquisition of battle-worthy troops would be tremendously helpful at a time like this."

Informed officials do not interpret Marshall's remark as meaning the U. S. would like to see troops from Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey added at some future time to the allied forces under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The positions they hold in their own countries are of too great strategic importance in relation both to the eastern Mediterranean and the southern flank of Western Europe.

Powers Must Agree

What is considered desirable here is some kind of an arrangement which would associate those countries more closely with the Atlantic defense setup to strengthen the solid front against possible Soviet military threat in the European area and to improve military coordination if war should occur.

As far as Spain is concerned, the expectation of many highly placed officials is that sooner or later Spain should find a place in the Atlantic treaty organization but that this cannot come about until all 12 of the Atlantic treaty powers are fully agreed that is desirable.

Spain is understood to have about 30 equipped divisions, compared with 32 in Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia. Turkey has about 300,000 men under arms and Greece about 125,000.

Deep Freeze Spell Ends For Michigan

(By The Associated Press)

Michigan's deepest freeze of the winter is over—at least for the present.

The U. S. weather bureau predicted today temperatures will rise throughout the state, hitting well above freezing marks in southern counties today and tomorrow.

Snow and ice left from last week's storms are expected to melt and run off downstate, and forecasts of an ice storm that would have covered the entire state have been drastically revised.

ANN ARBOR—(AP)—Dr. Daniel L. Rich, retired University of Michigan physics professor, died Thursday at 71. He retired in June, 1948, after 40 years on the faculty. He is survived by his wife, Bessie, and two daughters. Funeral services will be Saturday.

Lansing Office Fire Spurs Campaign To Eliminate Hazards

DETROIT — (AP) — The state office building fire may have started a drive to eliminate fire hazards in public buildings, Governor Williams told the Michigan Association of Insurance Agents last night.

"There is every indication," he said, "that the long era of neglect of fire safety precautions in public buildings will be remedied in some degree as a result of this unfortunate experience."

Library Premium Paid

Williams said he has ordered State Fire Marshal Arnold Renner to "make a new survey of fire protection facilities in every building owned and operated by the State of Michigan."

He added that when the survey is finished, "I intend to urge that all real fire hazards be eliminated x x x as rapidly as possible."

"It stands to the eternal credit of the x x x association," Williams said, that last August it paid the $3,013 premium on a $1,980,000 insurance policy on the books and equipment of the state library, housed in the fire-ravaged building. The payment was made until the legislature could act.

"Your timely advice and the financial assistance x x x has saved the people of Michigan many thousands of dollars," Williams said.

Busy Crowning Queens

Meanwhile in Lansing, Rep. Eugene C. Beltz (R-Monroe) said on the House floor that no governor had ever relayed to the legislature the fire marshal's recommendations for eliminating hazards in the building.

"I am not condemning any individual," he said, "but governors in recent years have been crowning beauty queens instead of taking care of these responsibilities."

State Controller Robert F. Steadman said movers and state employes would work over the weekend to evacuate furniture and files from the various departments in the office building.

Steadman said he hoped to have the lower five floors cleared by Sunday night. The badly-damaged sixth floor will not be touched until Monday, he said.

Father And Son Rob 40 Homes

Plainwell Pair Gives Up $12,000 Loot

ALLEGAN, Mich.—(AP)— Eldridge Murphy, 26, was held today for investigation of burglary after admitting last night accompanying his father, Walter 51, on more than 40 burglaries in three counties, Sheriff Louis Johnson said.

The younger Murphy was taken into custody by Kalamazoo county officials who said he will be charged with breaking and entering. The father is held in jail here and officials said a similar charge will be filed against him.

Sheriff Johnson said young Murphy came up with an unusual motive for the burglaries. Before the Murphys were caught, he said, the son's home had been completely furnished with stolen goods worth more than $12,000.

Eldridge Murphy was quoted as saying his father had expressed deep affection for him and took him on a year of crime because he "felt he had never done anything" for his son and wanted to make it up before he died.

Police had spent the last two days sorting and returning a warehouseful of furniture, clothing, foodstuffs and miscellaneous articles recovered from Eldridge Murphy's home in Plainwell Tuesday.

St. Ignace Coyote Hunter Killed In Airplane Accident

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich.—(AP)—A plane crash while coyote hunting brought death to Jake Grondin, member of a well-known St. Ignace family.

State police said that Grondin and Walter Schmidt, both of St. Ignace, were spotting coyotes from the air in the St. Martin's Bay region, near St. Ignace, about noon Thursday.

On an attempted landing, the officers said, one of the plane's skis caught in the snow, throwing it out of control. The wing crumpled back into the cockpit, injuring both Grondin and Schmidt, the pilot.

Grondin was brought to the hospital here, suffering from internal injuries, and died early last night. Schmidt, who is manager of the St. Ignace airport, received facial cuts.

Textile Strike Affects 70,000

Tieup Hits 160 Wool And Worsted Mills

BOSTON — (AP)—The first industry-wide strike in the 11-year history of the CIO Textile Workers union today drew an estimated 70,000 workers from their jobs in 160 wool and worsted mills.

The strike, which directly involves half the nation's wool and worsted workers, began at 12:01 a. m. (EST) after negotiations broke down between the union and the American Woolen company. The company generally sets the industry wage pattern.

Some third shift workers failed to show up or left their jobs shortly after starting work but the full impact of the strike wasn't to be felt until the normal starting time for day-shift workers.

The union demands at 15-cent-an-hour increase. It says the average industry wage now is $1.42 an hour with the minimum $1.17.

Union President Emile Rieve said the American Woolen refused to make a "reasonable offer."

He quoted company officials as saying that price ceilings must be lifted before wages could be raised.

Labor Members Of WSB Walk Out In Protest

Government Control Efforts Fouled Up

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Uncertainty clouded the whole government effort to control prices and wages after labor members of the wage stabilization board walked out today in protest over a recommendation for a ten per cent ceiling on wage increases.

By a six to three vote, the board came forth with a long-awaited formula which would limit wage increases to ten per cent between Jan. 15, 1950 and next July 1. Thus if workers had already had their pay hiked eight percent, they would be held to a two per cent boost until July 1.

Hold Out For 12

The three public and three industry members, who approved this formula, promised to review the entire wage picture before July 1 and revise it if necessary to keep wages in line with the mounting cost of living.

The labor members, who had been holding out for a 12 per cent ceiling, promptly withdrew from the board in protest. In effect, they had been instructed to do under the circumstances by the United Labor policy committee, a group representing nearly all the 16,000,000 union members in the nation.

They planned to meet with that committee today (11 a. m. EST) "to consider further appropriate action," as Emil Rieve put it. Rieve, one of the members, is president of the CIO United Tex-

Laborites Win Test In Britain

Censure Vote Beaten By 21 Majority

LONDON—(AP)—By a surprising 21-vote majority, the British Labor government last night defeated the eighth Conservative attempt in a year to drive it from office.

The parliamentary test came in an attack on the $13,160,000,000 three-year rearmament plan.

In the 308 to 287 vote, labor kept its ranks solid despite an earlier threat by left wing Socialists to bolt on the arms issue. Six liberals also voted with the government majority.

The vote was on a motion of censure introduced by Conservative leader Winston Churchill, who scathingly described Labor's rearmament efforts as inept and incompetent.

On the last four censure motions brought by the conservative opposition, the liberal bloc voted against the government. This time they said displays of party differences increased the danger of war.

The left-wing Laborites, who had urged a go-slow policy on rearmament for fear of enraging the Russians and increasing world tensions, decided to stick with the party rather than force a general election that might put the Conservatives into power.

Passage of the opposition motion would have forced Prime Minister Attlee's government to resign. Labor has hung to office by a narrow majority since it was continued in power a year ago.

Reappoint Five To City Bodies

Council Reviews Gravel Question

Five members of civic bodies in Escanaba were reappointed at the regular council meeting last night.

Those reappointed were Charles Gessner, John Bartella and E. H. Hiederauer, on the Escanaba planning commission; and Mrs. Barbara Semer and Charles Follo, on the library board.

Gessner and Bartella are the first members of the Escanaba planning commission to complete a three-year term on the commission, created in 1948. Niederauer was appointed last year to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Carl Nelson, Escanaba bank official now in Superior, Wis.

Motion Tabled

During consideration of appointments, Councilman Robert LeMire moved that appointments to the planning commission be tabled. The council, LeMire said, had been criticized for not having a representative from businessmen on the west end of Ludington street on the commission.

The motion was not supported, however, and LeMire then moved that the members be reappointed.

"It is obvious the other four council members wish to re-appoint the planning commission members whose terms are expiring," LeMire stated. The councilman said he had no one in mind for appointment from the west section of Ludington street.

In discussing the re-appointments to the planning commission, councilmen brought out that because the planning commission had not approved original plans for a beachhouse here, the city now has a bathhouse of much better architectural appearance and was saved several thousands of dollars.

Councilmen also pointed out that the planning commission has a balanced membership and that differences of opinion are represented in the membership.

The appointments to the planning commission are for three years and to the library board for four years.

Other Business Matters

Other business accomplished at the council meeting was as follows:

Rejected bids for 10,000 cubic yards of gravel and asked city manager to consider buying only 5,000 yards because of the city's financial condition. The gravel is needed for blacktop street projects, which the city hopes to be able to complete this summer. Bids were taken two weeks ago. Councilmen discussed at length the blacktopping of 16 blocks of street where base was built last year and new base scheduled to be constructed on 16 blocks.

Approved platting of lots between Third and Fifth avenues south and 22nd and 23rd streets, owned partially by Tom Rice.

Adopted a resolution, prepared by the city manager, opposing legislation being submitted in the Michigan legislature to regulate working hours of policemen. The city contends in the resolution that it is directly affected by this proposed legislation, also being considered for firemen's working hours.. The legislation would be interference by the state government in matters of local government, the resolution points out. Copies are to be sent to Governor Williams and U. P. legislators at Lansing.

Accepted a petition requesting snow removal on Stephenson avenue, from Seventh avenue north to the "Y" intersection.

Child, 6, Injured In Sliding Mishap; Hurts Not Serious

Carol Ann Cody, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cody of 211 South Sixth avenue, escaped serious injury at 5:10 p. m. yesterday when she rode her sled into the path of a light truck driven by William F. Fallmer of 216 South Fifth street.

The child's condition was reported as "good" today in St. Francis hospital where she was taken for treatment.

Escanaba police reported the accident occurred on Sixth avenue south at an alley entrance between First and Second streets. The truck was coming out of the alley and the child slid into the path of the truck on the sidewalk.

City Will Award Water Plant Contract Saturday

Contract for construction of a new water filtration plant in Escanaba will be awarded Saturday morning at an adjourned meeting of the city council.

At the regular meeting last night, the council received and opened three bids for construction of the water plant. Low bid was $799,548, submitted by Pearson Construction company of Benton Harbor, Mich.

Other bids submitted were by Proksch Construction company of Iron River and Bass Construction company of Birmingham, Mich., The Proksch total bid was $889,000 and the Bass bid was for $949,480.

Bids submitted do not include engineering fees, contingencies and cost of the new water main in north Escanaba. This would add approximately $100,000 to each bid. The city however, will be benefited by a lower interest rate available now on bonds sold.

Will Analyze Bids

Paul Johnson, engineer for Consoer, Townsend & associates of Chicago, read the bids last night, after they were opened by A. V. Aronson, city manager.

Johnson has been asked to analyze the bids and report to the council at 11 a. m. Saturday. Consoer, Townsend prepared plans and specifications for the new water filter plant here.

Bidders submitted base bids, bids on a canopy and observation area, on dismantling of the old plant and suction well and on 16-inch pipe to connect the new water plant with the old water plant area.

The complete bids submitted by the three companies were as follows:

Bass Construction company — Base bid, $879,000; canopy and observation area bid, $30,480; bid on dismantling of old plant and suction well, $40,000; and on 16-inch pipeline, $37,800. Bass could start construction in 60 days and complete the project in 400 calendar days.

Pearson Construction company —Base bid, $783,048; canopy and observation area, $11,000; dismantling of old plant and well, $5,500; pipeline, $29,000. Pearson could start in 50 days and complete work in 450 calendar days.

Proksch Construction company —Base bid, $859,000; canopy and observation area, $19,000; dismantling old plant and well, $11,000; pipeline, $28,400 Proksch could start in 30 days and complete in 540 days.

Prompt Action Needed

Construction of the new water plant here, at a cost not exceeding $800,000, was approved by a large majority in an advisory vote last year.

The Consoer, Townsend representative told councilmen last night it is imperative to act quickly on the bids if the water plant is to be built. Any one of the three bidders are reliable firms, he said.

Johnson explained that bidders on the project need to know quickly which bid is accepted, because of unstable market conditions resulting from national and international conditions. Committments on equipment and material are given only for short periods of time, he said.

Medal Awarded AP Columnist

Hal Boyle Acclaimed As Friend Of GI

WASHINGTON— (AP)— Associated Press columnist Hal Boyle is the 1950 winner of the gold medal award given by the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the most distinguished contribution to national security.

The award was presented last night by Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, who described Boyle as "one of the best friends the GI ever had."

Bradley said: "I am pleased that this award goes to a friend I have known so long. He is the soldier's friend. I don't know anyone who knows fighting at the front so well, or anyone who has written so well about it."

Boyle, who returned from Korea only recently, praised the American Eighth Army as "the equal of any army in history," even though he said "it started with patches on its pants like every American army we have sent overseas."

The 39-year-old newspaperman—a native of Kansas City now living in New York—received the award for his writing on military matters and his human interest dispatches from the Korean war front.

Bradley won the award last year and the medal now is called the Omar N. Bradley Medal.

Ice Varieties Seen By Many

Has Outstanding Scenery, Stage Props

The 12th annual Escanaba Ice show will play to about 700 more persons this year than last year, Dr. Harold Groos, ticket chairman reports.

The show played to about 900 persons when it opened Wednesday night, and to 1,000 last night. Plenty of tickets are available for tonight's show, but Saturday night tickets are selling out fast.

The Ice show begins at 8:15 p. m., tonight and Saturday, and the Sunday show starts at 2:15 p. m.

The 26-act community production this year is enhanced with some outstanding stage properties built by a committee of six working with Fred Johnson, properties chairman.

Among unusual stage fixtures created for the 1951 Ice Varieties are a large shoe for the Mother Goose number, and a revolving tambourine which is lowered on a pulley for the blacklight number, "Cakewalk Your Ladies."

A blue and white background setting was constructed for the 1951 ice show, with special colored lighting effects. Numerous other properties, including a mirror for the ballet number, picture frames for "Pretty as a Picture," and a train gate and ticket window for the finale, also were built.

Serving on the properties construction committee are C. E. Johnson, Burt Goodreau, Donald Sullivan, William Davis, Joseph LaCrosse and Robert Grabowski.

Little Theatre Activity To Be Planned Monday

All persons interested in little theatre work in Escanaba have been invited to attend a meeting at 7:30 p. m., Monday in Carpenter hall.

A committee of six, including members of the now inactive Escanaba Civic Theatre, has been meeting the past two weeks to outline plans for reactivation of a theatre organization.

The meeting Monday is open to all former members of Escanaba Civic theatre and any person interested in stage and radio work. Past experience is not necessary.

A four-part entertainment program will be presented Monday night. It will include vocal selections by Miss Clare Furton, accompanied by Miss Josephine Sayklly; presentation of a reading, "Manhattan Tower" by Gordon Flath; a dialect reading by Mrs. Fred Swank; and a talk on theatre work and organization by Whitney Dixon, a former chairman and board member of Escanaba Civic Theatre.

Organizational plans and theatre projects in the community will be discussed Monday night.

The meeting, which will be followed by serving of refreshments, has been called in response to requests from a number of Escanaba residents.

Strike At Gladstone Veneer Plant Settled

GLADSTONE—The two week old strike at the Northwestern Veneer and Plywood corporation plant here which has thrown about 360 men out of work has been settled.

By a vote of 260-48, employes of Buckeye local, Chamber of Labor of North America union agreed to terms of a contract proposal approved by a union bargaining committee, and company officials. The strike-ending talks were led by John Luecke of Escanaba, representing the federal labor conciliation board.

Under terms of the agreement most workers will be back at work Monday morning and the rest as soon as plant operations can utilize them.

The agreement granted a wage increase of 10 cents an hour, effective Jan. 23, and subject to approval by the wage stabilization board. In the event a dispute section is created by WSB, further wage increases may be taken to the board for action, subject to price relief for plant products.

The terms agreed upon also include time and a half for work on Saturday except when time is lost voluntarily. Medical insurance will be added to the hospital and surgical benefits already provided; union dues will be checked off; a four-step grievance procedure will include arbitration; the contract will be amended to cover job bidding, transfers, etc., and plans for a pension will be discussed later.

After the plant is in operation, plans will be made to study a labor-management committee setup to iron out production "kinks."

In the talks, the company was represented by S. R. Venne, president, and Matt Faussner, plant manager. The union was represented by its chairman, Louis Hillwart, and bargaining committee members, David Page, Albert Creten and Adam Sinclair.

Stephenson School Employees Raised

The board of education of the Stephenson Public Schools has granted all school employees a salary adjustment for the school year of 1950-51. The minimum adjustment for full-time employees will be ninety dollars and the maximum will be one hundred and fifty dollars. Part-time employees will receive pro-rated adjustments.

The adjustments have been made to compensate the employees in part for the increased cost-of-living.

SOUTHERN COMPASS

Chinese compasses often "point out" the south, a feasible arrangement since a magnetized needle directs itself to point in a magnetic north-south direction, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Roof Fire Damages Colbert Home Here

A roof fire starting from chimney sparks caused considerable damage to the Addis Colbert home, 311 South 12th street at 11:30 a. m., today. The fire burned through roof boards but did not penetrate any farther. About 50 square feet of the roof was burned.

Two Townships Have Primaries

Voters Will Nominate Candidates Monday

Voters in two of Delta county's 14 townships will go to the polls Monday Feb. 19, to place in nomination candidates for township office whose names will appear on the ballot at the April 2 general election.

The townships in which primary elections will be held, and the candidates, are as follows:

Escanaba township — Independent party, two candidates for supervisor, Henry Hughes, incumbent, and John Germain; three candidates for clerk, William Beauchamp, incumbent, Holger Ostlund and Vincent Rappette; two candidates for treasurer, Eugene Roberts, incumbent, and Edmund J. Beauchamp; four candidates for justice of the peace (two to be nominated), Archie Dubord, Leo Gareau, Gordon L. Johnson and Leo J. Therrien.

Wells township — Taxpayers party, only opposition is for the clerk's nomination, a race between Alfred Groos, incumbent and Joseph Berube. Unopposed on the ticket are Charles Sedenquist for supervisor, James Anderson for treasurer, Gene Makoski for justice of the peace, and Conrad Herioux for board of review.

Township party, all candidates unopposed and therefore not presented for a primary vote, comprises William Casey for clerk, Michael Zavada for justice of the peace, Clarence Wright for board of review, two years, and Phillip Clark, board of review, four years.

There are contests developing in other townships on two tickets that will be presented to the voters in the April 2 general election.

City Employes Are Laid Off In Economy Move

The city of Escanaba has reduced its employe roll by eight and by the end of next week 22 to 24 men will have been laid off in an economy move necessitated by a decrease in revenues.

The lay-off will reduce the payroll by about $5,000 and material and equipment expenses will be decreased.

During the first six months of fiscal 1950-51 city revenue receipts were $45,000 less than anticipated in the budget, while budget expenditures were about as planned.

City employes now are seeking a 6 cents per hour wage increase and this also figures in the economy program. From $9,000 to $10,000 will be needed to provide for the pay raise.

Eight city employes were laid off Monday, and after the ice show seven or eight more will be dismissed.

Reappoint Five To City Bodies

Council Reviews Gravel Question

Five members of civic bodies in Escanaba were reappointed at the regular council meeting last night.

Those reappointed were Charles Gessner, John Bartella and E. H. Hiederauer, on the Escanaba planning commission; and Mrs. Barbara Semer and Charles Follo, on the library board.

Gessner and Bartella are the first members of the Escanaba planning commission to complete a three-year term on the commission, created in 1948. Niederauer was appointed last year to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Carl Nelson, Escanaba bank official now in Superior, Wis.

Motion Tabled

During consideration of appointments, Councilman Robert LeMire moved that appointments to the planning commission be tabled. The council, LeMire said, had been criticized for not having a representative from businessmen on the west end of Ludington street on the commission.

The motion was not supported, however, and LeMire then moved that the members be reappointed.

"It is obvious the other four council members wish to re-appoint the planning commission members whose terms are expiring," LeMire stated. The councilman said he had no one in mind for appointment from the west section of Ludington street.

In discussing the re-appointments to the planning commission, councilmen brought out that because the planning commission had not approved original plans for a beachhouse here, the city now has a bathhouse of much better architectural appearance and was saved several thousands of dollars.

Councilmen also pointed out that the planning commission has a balanced membership and that differences of opinion are represented in the membership.

The appointments to the planning commission are for three years and to the library board for four years.

Other Business Matters

Other business accomplished at the council meeting was as follows:

Rejected bids for 10,000 cubic yards of gravel and asked city manager to consider buying only 5,000 yards because of the city's financial condition. The gravel is needed for blacktop street projects, which the city hopes to be able to complete this summer. Bids were taken two weeks ago. Councilmen discussed at length the blacktopping of 16 blocks of street where base was built last year and new base scheduled to be constructed on 16 blocks.

Approved platting of lots between Third and Fifth avenues south and 22nd and 23rd streets, owned partially by Tom Rice.

Adopted a resolution, prepared by the city manager, opposing legislation being submitted in the Michigan legislature to regulate working hours of policemen. The city contends in the resolution that it is directly affected by this proposed legislation, also being considered for firemen's working hours.. The legislation would be interference by the state government in matters of local government, the resolution points out. Copies are to be sent to Governor Williams and U. P. legislators at Lansing.

Accepted a petition requesting snow removal on Stephenson avenue, from Seventh avenue north to the "Y" intersection.

Child, 6, Injured In Sliding Mishap; Hurts Not Serious

Carol Ann Cody, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cody of 211 South Sixth avenue, escaped serious injury at 5:10 p. m. yesterday when she rode her sled into the path of a light truck driven by William F. Fallmer of 216 South Fifth street.

The child's condition was reported as "good" today in St. Francis hospital where she was taken for treatment.

Escanaba police reported the accident occurred on Sixth avenue south at an alley entrance between First and Second streets. The truck was coming out of the alley and the child slid into the path of the truck on the sidewalk.

City Will Award Water Plant Contract Saturday

Contract for construction of a new water filtration plant in Escanaba will be awarded Saturday morning at an adjourned meeting of the city council.

At the regular meeting last night, the council received and opened three bids for construction of the water plant. Low bid was $799,548, submitted by Pearson Construction company of Benton Harbor, Mich.

Other bids submitted were by Proksch Construction company of Iron River and Bass Construction company of Birmingham, Mich., The Proksch total bid was $889,000 and the Bass bid was for $949,480.

Bids submitted do not include engineering fees, contingencies and cost of the new water main in north Escanaba. This would add approximately $100,000 to each bid. The city however, will be benefited by a lower interest rate available now on bonds sold.

Will Analyze Bids

Paul Johnson, engineer for Consoer, Townsend & associates of Chicago, read the bids last night, after they were opened by A. V. Aronson, city manager.

Johnson has been asked to analyze the bids and report to the council at 11 a. m. Saturday. Consoer, Townsend prepared plans and specifications for the new water filter plant here.

Bidders submitted base bids, bids on a canopy and observation area, on dismantling of the old plant and suction well and on 16-inch pipe to connect the new water plant with the old water plant area.

The complete bids submitted by the three companies were as follows:

Bass Construction company — Base bid, $879,000; canopy and observation area bid, $30,480; bid on dismantling of old plant and suction well, $40,000; and on 16-inch pipeline, $37,800. Bass could start construction in 60 days and complete the project in 400 calendar days.

Pearson Construction company —Base bid, $783,048; canopy and observation area, $11,000; dismantling of old plant and well, $5,500; pipeline, $29,000. Pearson could start in 50 days and complete work in 450 calendar days.

Proksch Construction company —Base bid, $859,000; canopy and observation area, $19,000; dismantling old plant and well, $11,000; pipeline, $28,400 Proksch could start in 30 days and complete in 540 days.

Prompt Action Needed

Construction of the new water plant here, at a cost not exceeding $800,000, was approved by a large majority in an advisory vote last year.

The Consoer, Townsend representative told councilmen last night it is imperative to act quickly on the bids if the water plant is to be built. Any one of the three bidders are reliable firms, he said.

Johnson explained that bidders on the project need to know quickly which bid is accepted, because of unstable market conditions resulting from national and international conditions. Committments on equipment and material are given only for short periods of time, he said.

Medal Awarded AP Columnist

Hal Boyle Acclaimed As Friend Of GI

WASHINGTON— (AP)— Associated Press columnist Hal Boyle is the 1950 winner of the gold medal award given by the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the most distinguished contribution to national security.

The award was presented last night by Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, who described Boyle as "one of the best friends the GI ever had."

Bradley said: "I am pleased that this award goes to a friend I have known so long. He is the soldier's friend. I don't know anyone who knows fighting at the front so well, or anyone who has written so well about it."

Boyle, who returned from Korea only recently, praised the American Eighth Army as "the equal of any army in history," even though he said "it started with patches on its pants like every American army we have sent overseas."

The 39-year-old newspaperman—a native of Kansas City now living in New York—received the award for his writing on military matters and his human interest dispatches from the Korean war front.

Bradley won the award last year and the medal now is called the Omar N. Bradley Medal.

Ice Varieties Seen By Many

Has Outstanding Scenery, Stage Props

The 12th annual Escanaba Ice show will play to about 700 more persons this year than last year, Dr. Harold Groos, ticket chairman reports.

The show played to about 900 persons when it opened Wednesday night, and to 1,000 last night. Plenty of tickets are available for tonight's show, but Saturday night tickets are selling out fast.

The Ice show begins at 8:15 p. m., tonight and Saturday, and the Sunday show starts at 2:15 p. m.

The 26-act community production this year is enhanced with some outstanding stage properties built by a committee of six working with Fred Johnson, properties chairman.

Among unusual stage fixtures created for the 1951 Ice Varieties are a large shoe for the Mother Goose number, and a revolving tambourine which is lowered on a pulley for the blacklight number, "Cakewalk Your Ladies."

A blue and white background setting was constructed for the 1951 ice show, with special colored lighting effects. Numerous other properties, including a mirror for the ballet number, picture frames for "Pretty as a Picture," and a train gate and ticket window for the finale, also were built.

Serving on the properties construction committee are C. E. Johnson, Burt Goodreau, Donald Sullivan, William Davis, Joseph LaCrosse and Robert Grabowski.

Little Theatre Activity To Be Planned Monday

All persons interested in little theatre work in Escanaba have been invited to attend a meeting at 7:30 p. m., Monday in Carpenter hall.

A committee of six, including members of the now inactive Escanaba Civic Theatre, has been meeting the past two weeks to outline plans for reactivation of a theatre organization.

The meeting Monday is open to all former members of Escanaba Civic theatre and any person interested in stage and radio work. Past experience is not necessary.

A four-part entertainment program will be presented Monday night. It will include vocal selections by Miss Clare Furton, accompanied by Miss Josephine Sayklly; presentation of a reading, "Manhattan Tower" by Gordon Flath; a dialect reading by Mrs. Fred Swank; and a talk on theatre work and organization by Whitney Dixon, a former chairman and board member of Escanaba Civic Theatre.

Organizational plans and theatre projects in the community will be discussed Monday night.

The meeting, which will be followed by serving of refreshments, has been called in response to requests from a number of Escanaba residents.

Strike At Gladstone Veneer Plant Settled

GLADSTONE—The two week old strike at the Northwestern Veneer and Plywood corporation plant here which has thrown about 360 men out of work has been settled.

By a vote of 260-48, employes of Buckeye local, Chamber of Labor of North America union agreed to terms of a contract proposal approved by a union bargaining committee, and company officials. The strike-ending talks were led by John Luecke of Escanaba, representing the federal labor conciliation board.

Under terms of the agreement most workers will be back at work Monday morning and the rest as soon as plant operations can utilize them.

The agreement granted a wage increase of 10 cents an hour, effective Jan. 23, and subject to approval by the wage stabilization board. In the event a dispute section is created by WSB, further wage increases may be taken to the board for action, subject to price relief for plant products.

The terms agreed upon also include time and a half for work on Saturday except when time is lost voluntarily. Medical insurance will be added to the hospital and surgical benefits already provided; union dues will be checked off; a four-step grievance procedure will include arbitration; the contract will be amended to cover job bidding, transfers, etc., and plans for a pension will be discussed later.

After the plant is in operation, plans will be made to study a labor-management committee setup to iron out production "kinks."

In the talks, the company was represented by S. R. Venne, president, and Matt Faussner, plant manager. The union was represented by its chairman, Louis Hillwart, and bargaining committee members, David Page, Albert Creten and Adam Sinclair.

Stephenson School Employees Raised

The board of education of the Stephenson Public Schools has granted all school employees a salary adjustment for the school year of 1950-51. The minimum adjustment for full-time employees will be ninety dollars and the maximum will be one hundred and fifty dollars. Part-time employees will receive pro-rated adjustments.

The adjustments have been made to compensate the employees in part for the increased cost-of-living.

Two Townships Have Primaries

Voters Will Nominate Candidates Monday

Voters in two of Delta county's 14 townships will go to the polls Monday Feb. 19, to place in nomination candidates for township office whose names will appear on the ballot at the April 2 general election.

The townships in which primary elections will be held, and the candidates, are as follows:

Escanaba township — Independent party, two candidates for supervisor, Henry Hughes, incumbent, and John Germain; three candidates for clerk, William Beauchamp, incumbent, Holger Ostlund and Vincent Rappette; two candidates for treasurer, Eugene Roberts, incumbent, and Edmund J. Beauchamp; four candidates for justice of the peace (two to be nominated), Archie Dubord, Leo Gareau, Gordon L. Johnson and Leo J. Therrien.

Wells township — Taxpayers party, only opposition is for the clerk's nomination, a race between Alfred Groos, incumbent and Joseph Berube. Unopposed on the ticket are Charles Sedenquist for supervisor, James Anderson for treasurer, Gene Makoski for justice of the peace, and Conrad Herioux for board of review.

Township party, all candidates unopposed and therefore not presented for a primary vote, comprises William Casey for clerk, Michael Zavada for justice of the peace, Clarence Wright for board of review, two years, and Phillip Clark, board of review, four years.

There are contests developing in other townships on two tickets that will be presented to the voters in the April 2 general election.

City Employes Are Laid Off In Economy Move

The city of Escanaba has reduced its employe roll by eight and by the end of next week 22 to 24 men will have been laid off in an economy move necessitated by a decrease in revenues.

The lay-off will reduce the payroll by about $5,000 and material and equipment expenses will be decreased.

During the first six months of fiscal 1950-51 city revenue receipts were $45,000 less than anticipated in the budget, while budget expenditures were about as planned.

City employes now are seeking a 6 cents per hour wage increase and this also figures in the economy program. From $9,000 to $10,000 will be needed to provide for the pay raise.

Eight city employes were laid off Monday, and after the ice show seven or eight more will be dismissed.

We're Not Losing Cold War to Reds, Great Gains Made During Past Year

A national public opinion poll came up recently with some rather astounding statistics. It found that 30 per cent of the American people thought the Russians were winning the cold war, while only nine per cent believed this country had the edge.

The rest either felt neither side was winning, had no opinion, or didn't know what was meant by "cold war."

But if this is an accurate index of U. S. mood today, it is at sharp variance with the facts as seen by many of our most able leaders and seasoned experts.

Indeed, some of those officials are pretty upset over what they consider the foolish defeatism they find on every hand. One such is Robert A. Lovett, undersecretary of defense, who can't understand why a nation of such unmatched power should at the peak of its strength be acting like a weak sister in the face of the Communist dragons.

People talk of pulling our forces out of Korea.

People talk, too, as if 1950 were almost total gain for the Russians and their satellite friends, and total loss for us.

Barbara Ward, British author of two well-regarded books on western policy toward the Soviet Union, declares flatly that this gloom just isn't warranted. Writing in the New York Times magazine, she insists that 1950 in fact was a year of setbacks for Communist strategy.

Without minimizing the real and dangerous division among the free nations over China, she says this rift had obscured the more important fact of a substantial increase in European unity. Europe, after all, is conceded on all sides to be the really crucial theater of conflict with Russia.

Only the most negative-minded Americans talk of abandoning Europe to its fate. Most others, including such Republican leaders as Senator Taft, are agreed that Europe's defense is essential to our own. Debate today is simply over ways of effecting that defense.

Correspondingly, in Europe much less is heard now of staying "neutral" in a future war between the U. S. and Russia. In this respect, says Miss Ward, France's action toward real rearmament is far more significant than disputes over Chiang Kai-shek's prospects.

Nor, she concludes, is pessimism justified in any appraisal of our actual military status. To be sure, we and other western powers are not adequately armed to resist Soviet attack. But are we worse off than before 1950?

Miss Ward thinks not. She says: "The critics who argue that Korea is a fatal drain on western armaments assume that without Korea there would have been armaments on which to drain. But if we in the West deal frankly with ourselves, we have to admit that without Korea—nay, more, without the disasters in Korea—western rearmament still would not have left the stage of the blueprint."

In other words, she feels that Korea woke us up to the dangers we face, and set us on the road to real defense for the first time. In that sense, despite its cost to us in men and equipment and dollars, Korea has been more to our advantage than to the Communists'.

Miss Ward believes, too, that every year which passes gives the people of the world a better chance to compare the evil workings of communism with the vision and progress of free democracy.

She complains, however, that we of the free world do too little advertising of the positive side of our ledger. Many a competent analyst looking at America today makes the same complaint: we don't talk enough about the good things, the things that are going right both here at home and in the rest of the world.

Says Miss Ward: "The Soviet half (of the world) has shouted to high heaven its reimposition of slavery. The Western World has introduced new concepts of freedom and cooperation with conspiratorial stealth."

Don't you think Miss Ward has something here?

Modern Speed Has Its Disadvantages

SO you think you are better off zipping along the highway at 60 miles an hour or flying through the air at 200 miles an hour than your grandfather was plodding behind his team of oxen.

And you think you have it a lot better with your vacuum sweeper than grandma had it with her hand sweep or dust mop.

Well, Dr. Jonathan Forman, editor of the Ohio State Medical Journal, disagrees with you.

Speaking at Jackson a few days ago, Dr. Forman said: "When we travel at 60 miles an hour or fly through the air we are exposed to more pollen in one trip than our grandfathers were in their entire lives.

"In homes, vacuum cleaners grind up dust until it's fine enough to breathe and damage mucuous membranes.

"We go into air conditioned buildings and chill mucuous membranes, then step out into the broiling sun. They are not built to stand that treatment."

The point the doctor was making is that modern living has led to an increase in allergies. Which seems to prove that progress isn't always all progress.

You Can't Take It With You

ARE you having trouble making both ends meet?

Then listen to the story of Alexis and Germaine Jean Gatabin of South Kingstown, R. I.

Alexis was a church caretaker who probably never earned more than $25 a week. But he and his wife lived frugally and saved.

They invested their savings in securities. Having bought securities, they never sold any.

They invested the earnings of their securities.

Alexis died last year at the age of 83. His wife, 68, died last month.

When the estate was probated, it was found their securities were worth $100,000 and they owned their house valued at $15,000.

There probably are companion morals to this story: It can be done—and you can't take it with you.

West Pointer Stays Out Of Service

NO one denies professional football player Glenn Davis the right to get married.

In fact, after seeing pictures of his movie actress bride, attractive Terry Moore, most persons might even envy him.

But there still seems little justification for the fact that Davis, who was educated at West Point Military Academy as a future army officer at the taxpayers' expense, has declined to serve in the army for the country that educated him. Instead, he refuses a proffered army commission and prefers to work for an oil company in Texas—when he isn't drawing a big salary for playing professional football in sunny California.

Meanwhile his former West Point teammates like John Trent, Arnold Galiffa and Tom Lombardo are fighting and dying in Korea. It hardly seems fair to the thousands of boys in Korea, most of whom had to pay for their own education as well as the education of Davis.

FOLLOW UP ON RFC CHARGES
(Milwaukee Journal)

A few days ago a Senate subcommittee, headed by Senator Fulbright, charged that three members of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. board had yielded to political pressure in authorizing RFC loans.

Now President Truman submits the names of all five present members for confirmation. He does this for the simple reason that, since the Senate did not confirm the appointments last session, their future pay may now be in jeopardy. Three of the members are serving as recess appointees. The other two are holdovers.

Under the circumstances, there need not necessarily be criticism of the president for his action. The situation does, however, call for a speedy completion of the inquiry into the behavior of the three board members charged with serious improprieties.

Even last August, when the appointments were originally made, there was criticism of RFC procedures. It was at least partly because of this that the Senate refused to confirm the appointments then made.

The Senate cannot shirk this responsibility further. Neither can it proceed with confirmations until it knows the breadth and depth of the charges which have been made. They must not be shrugged off.

Don't spend all you make, advises a New York banker. Some folks get that mixed, and don't make all they spend.

Cowboy Life

By Gordon Martin

MARTIN

You may like to kid your kids about their love of cowboy stuff, and the western tales and scenese of which they never get enough. You may chuckle when you hear them cheer the hero strong and clean, as he flashes 'cross the movie or the television screen. But perhaps, if you would speak the truth, the kids are not alone, and you've got a lot of western admiration of your own.

For you find it's quite exciting when the stagecoach rounds the bend, and the bandits on the unsuspecting travelers descend. Or the cattle rustlers ride by night to steal a herd of beef, and the hero comes a-shootin' to the heroine's relief. Then you've got enthusiasm that you didn't know you had, as the sheriff takes to jail a bunch of cowpokes who are "bad."

They are just a bunch of varmints, you are told by smaller fry, and the hero, he was "good" and would, for justice, do or die. Then you realize the western show you thoroughly enjoyed, and your secret yen for such a life has never been destroyed. And you know that though you kid the kids about the cowboy craze, you'll be ridin' hell-for-leather the remainder of your days.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Some senators seem to believe that it is a criminal matter for a newspaper to criticize military mistakes. This is a view also shared by many brass hats—though not all.

However, mstakes are sometimes rectified chiefly through knowing about them, and a case in point is the magnificent manner in which Gen. Matthew Ridgway has profited from the mistakes of General MacArthur in turning a tragic defeat into Korean victory.

While the very loyal MacArthur clique may argue that he is still supreme commander in Tokyo, and therefore deserves credit for the current victory, the indisputable facts are that General Ridgway was sent to Korea direct from Washington where he had been deputy chief of staff and as such was in close contact with the Pentagon's views of warfare. It also is an indisputable fact that Ridgway won his victory with no new fresh troops and facing a somewhat stronger enemy than MacArthur.

According to military observers who read the battle dispatches, here is how Ridgway profited by mistakes and accomplished his remarkable feat.

CAREFUL INTELLIGENCE

MacArthur conducted only limited patrolling for three or four days before launching his attack. Then, after the attack boomeranged, the Eighth army retreated so fast that it lost all contact with the enemy and for several weeks didn't know where the Communists were.

In contrast, Ridgway conducted aggressive patrolling for eight to ten days before kicking off his offensive. He sent heavy patrols deep into enemy territory in so-called "reconnaissance in force." His orders were to disrupt any Communist build-up, to inflict as many casualties as possible and to survey enemy positions. The lack of patrolling by MacArthur failed to detect the Chinese Communist build-up that swept our armies back to the 38th parallel. However, Ridgway's troops knew exactly what to expect.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

MacArthur announced his offensive the same morning it was launched, predicting his troops would be "home by Christmas." Ridgway waited until his offensive had been rolling over 24 hours before announcing it.

POOR BATTLE LIAISON

MacArthur struck in all directions at once. His troops were fanned out from one end of North Korea to the other, in no position to head off a surprise counterattack. The Eighth army and Tenth corps also had no battle liason, had to coordinate their actions through Tokyo.

In contrast, Ridgway opened his attack on the western front, but didn't order his eastern front to move until nine days later—after he was sure all was going well. He had the added advantage of being in full command in the field, and wasn't forced to direct two fronts by remote control from Tokyo.

CONTRAST IN CASUALTIES

MacArthur suffered devastating casualties after the Chinese hit, lost more than 15,000 casualties in two weeks. Later, the Marines, who broke out of the Chosin reservoir trap, mowed down the Chinese at a ratio of 20 to one. However, Ridgway's losses during the first two weeks of his offensive were the lightest of the Korean war. He suffered less than 1,500 casualties, at the same time taking a toll of 52,000 Communist casualties.

In fairness to MacArthur and in tribute to the air force, Ridgway has been meeting more scattered opposition. This is largely because the air force has raked enemy positions with devastating fire bombs and rocket fire. Ridgway's aggressive, armored patrols also killed and rooted out Communists along the path of the offensive. As a result, the main Chinese Communist force is reported to be digging in north of the 38th parallel.

It should also be pointed out that MacArthur's supply lines in North Korea were stretched, whereas the Chinese Communists were then only a few miles from their supply bases. This situation has now been reversed.

Ridgway's advance patrolling and careful preparation, however, made the big difference between defeat and victory.

SOME SURPRISING FACTS ABOUT THE WORD BEGGAR

Have you ever noticed that the word beggar is "ar" and not "er" in the second syllable? Why is it that the word does not follow the customary "er" spelling of such words as baker, lawyer, speaker, etc., in which "er" stands for "an agent or doer"?

The answer lies in the history of the queer word biggar, which, incidentally, is a word of French, and not Anglo-Saxon, origin.

In the 12th century, a priest of Liege, Belgium, Lambert le Begue, formed the hospital and church of St. Christopher for the purpose of caring for the widows and orphaned children of crusaders. He also established an association of women whose duty was to support the institution by soliciting alms and performing various duties.

These women served as nuns, but they took no vows and retained their property and independence. In honor of the founder, they became known as Beguines (pronounced: bay-GHEEN), and the convent-like places where they lived were known as beguinages (bay-ghee-NAZH).

Sometime later, an association of men was organized for much the same reason, and these monk-like workers were called Begards (or Beghards), a word which in French also came to mean "mendicants; solicitors of alms." The Begards soon degenerated into groups of wandering, disorganized mendicants who made religion a cloak for living on charity.

Regardless whether you plant radish, beet or lettuce seeds, the some kind of weeds seem to come up.

Highly Strategic Indochina May Be Next On Reds' Timetable

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The explosive threat of another Korea is riveting world attention on Indochina, a strife-ridden land faced with the ominous danger of Chinese Communist intervention.

This highly strategic country, situated in a commanding position on the South China Sea, is shown—with emphasis on its "powder-keg" spots—in a new map of the area especially prepared for newspaper use by National Geographic Society cartographers.

Apparent from the map is the long border—it measures 830 miles—which Indochina shares with Red China. Much of this frontier region is rugged or mountainous, ideal terrain for infiltrating guerrilla columns or supply-running parties.

By far the most critical stretch is the 620-mile border which marks the division between China and the territory of North Viet Nam, the military hot spot now and for some time past. This outpost province (formerly known as Tonkin), plus Annam and Cochin China, makes up the State of Viet Nam of today.

Embattled Rice Bowl

In North Viet Nam, around Hanoi on the rice-bowl plain of the Red (Rouge) River, French and Viet Nam forces, considerably strengthened in recent weeks, have been standing off the reinforced insurgents of Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh. The situation, with elements paralleling those of Greece in 1947 and Korea a year ago, could overnight produce a major second Asian war front deeply involving the world's great powers.

Shown on the plainly marked North Viet Nam portion of the National Geographic map are Hanoi, market center of the teeming Red River basin, and Haiphong, Hanoi's port, 60 miles to the east.

Hanoi, Haiphong, and Moncay, are still held by the French-supported Viet Nam government headed by Bao Dai, former emperor of Annam. This is due to the stiffened resistance of 150,000 French troops arrayed against Ho's Communist army. The latter, the so-called Viet Minh forces, control important areas, however. In a series of limited offensives last year, they captured a number of key French outposts, such as Laokay, Caobang, Langson, and Locbinh, shown on the map astride border passes between China and Indochina.

Railroads and highways have been drawn in this No. 1 area of Viet Nam's four-year-old civil warfare according to last-minute information from military and a variety of other sources.

Reliable authorities indicate, for example, that the railroad northwest from Hanoi along the Red River through Laokay on the border has quite recently been in service or under advanced repair all the way to Mengtsz and Kumming, China. Both anti-communist and communist forces would stand to benefit, depending on the portions of the rail line within their control.

Three Associated States

Viet Nam's status as the heartland of Texas-sized Indochina is plain from the fact that, totaling little more than two-fifths of the country's area, it holds five-sixths of the population—22.5 out of 27 million. A restored ancient name, Viet Nam means "people of the south," thus describing the new state's geographic relation to China.

Little concerned thus far in the strife are Cambodia and Laos, the remaining two of the five provinces in prewar French Indo-china. These ancient kingdoms with Viet Nam now comprise the Associated States of Indochina, which have been launched on the road to independence in handling their affairs but still operate within the framework of the French Union.

Born as a puppet state under Japanese World War II occupation, Viet Nam after VJ-day sought self-government under its then leader, the gaunt Ho Chi Minh. The French, who have wielded power in Indochina since the 1600's, tried at first to cooperate in Ho's purported nationalist aims. They soon found, however, that his goal was subservience to the Kremlin rather than true national independence.

Therefore, France in 1948 switched support to Bao Dai as Viet Nam's Chief of State. The United States, Great Britain, and others recognized his government.

Ho's shooting war by that time was already more than one year old. Besides closing in around Hanoi in the north, his guerillas have terrorized the principal cities and towns of Central Viet Nam (Annam) and South Viet Nam (Cochin China), shown on the map. By such tactics even parts of Saigon, Viet Nam's capital and the country's chief seaport, have at times been Viet Nam by day and Viet Minh by night.

Both Sides Gather Strength

As 1951 advances, Viet Nam under Bao Dai finds its strength increasing from the low ebb of last autumn when the Reds overwhelmed so many of Tonkin's outposts. French troops have been revitalized under the new command of General Jean de Lattre de Tassigny. Native support has increased as the French schedule for full Indochinese independence has progressed. U. S. military and economic assistance, accelerated since war in Korea, is producing results.

Viet Minh, supported openly by Soviet Russia and her satellites for the past year, proved in its autumn offensives that it was well supplied with arms and planning from across the Chinese frontier. As in Korea, near-by Communist Chinese soil is sanctuary for the Indochina insurgents whenever hard pressed. Also, as in Korea, this convenient sanctuary may prove to be the Red-rigged jack-in-the-box that can hurtle hordes of Chinese "volunteers" into action alongside Ho's depleted battalions, and turn the tide of battle.

Hanging southward from China, Indochina, as the map shows, strikingly resembles the Korean peninsula, which is suspended like an appendix from Manchuria. Indochina, with slightly less population, is more than three times Korea's size. Lying wholly within the Torrid Zone on Asia's bulging southeastern peninsula that holds Thailand (Siam), Burma, and Malaya. Indochina has climate far warmer than Korea's.

Mountains towering to 8,000 feet and more make travel rugged through most of Indochina. The map suggests how such barriers largely determined the boundaries of the land's ancient kingdoms. They affect military planning as does February fog in the lowlands and a long rainy season beginning in May, and building up to the violent typhoons of late summer.

Rice Paces Economy

Normally a world leader in rice export, Indochina grows its big crop in three fertile lowland regions where population is densest. The largest, an Ohio-sized area of Cochin China and Cambodia, is the delta region of the great Mekong River, which courses through or along the west border of Indochina for some 1,900 miles. Second is the Red River basin. Third is the long narrow strip of Annamese coast joining the other two.

Tea, tobacco, cotton, and coffee are other crops in this warm land where farming still provides three-fourths of all income. Vast forests, especially in mountainous, land-locked Laos, promise a growing lumber trade. Coal and iron lead a long list of mine products.

Some 17 million Annamese, resembling the Chinese and inhabiting the lowlands, account for most of the population of Viet Nam. Cambodians number three million, as do the various and generally less advanced mountain tribes.

Half a million Chinese dominate small trade; a few thousand French have in the past run the government and the larger businesses.

Is It Necessary?

Dear Sir:

I have wondered whether or not the residents of the City of Escanaba keep track of the expenditures and activities of the city officials outside of election time, or do the vast majority forget about their city after elections are over and lose their interest in city affairs.

I wonder how many of the citizens of Escanaba know that a new executive position has been created and is called "Commissioner of Public Safety". This position is somewhere between the city manager and the chief of police and fire departments. He supervises the police department, including the chief of police, and the fire department. I understand that the position of chief of the fire department has been abolished. Whether or not the Commissioner has personally replaced a man in the fire department is unknown.

This office of supervisor of public safety apparently has his duties delegated to him by the city manager. It appears that the office is a go between between the city manager's office and the police and fire departments. At any rate, the position has all the characteristics in name and duties that a city ten times the size of Escanaba might have, if it could afford it.

To me, this office is entirely unnecessary in a city the size of Escanaba. The city manager should assume and perform at least some of the duties of his office. Our chief of police is wholly competent to run his department without a young and inexperienced supervisor on his shirt tails. The city police has been an efficient organization, without this overhead, up to a few months ago. It certainly can continue. The fire department has experienced men in its ranks who can operate that department without being hampered by rules and regulations of an inexperienced man who has never served a day with any civil fire department.

It seems to me that it would be better to hire more men for patrol duty in the police department, where help is needed, than to create executive positions such as assistant city manager and commissioner of public safety. It would put the increased expense where it belongs and, of necessity, require the city manager to perform, himself, the duties for which he was named.

A Reader.

SLIPS THAT PASS—Norman Moe of the Kimberly-Clark corportion, a Wisconsin firm, was reminded of a story. The reminder came at a recent convention of the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood Manufacturers association in Escanaba.

There was a small-town newspaper editor, Moe reported, who was chagrined at the hilarity caused by one of his news items that went like this:

"The ladies of the church have cast off clothing of all kinds. They may be seen in the church basement any afternoon."

The story is amusing but hardly apropos of Mr. Moe's subject—wage stabilization. Perhaps Mr. Moe was right when he warned the timber producers that wage stabilization is a dull topic and that may have been excuse for the story.

• • •

CHANGING TIMES—It isn't only the newspapers that take an occasional ribbing from speakers. Other institutions of learning come in for a derisive hoot.

At a recent PTA-sponsored panel discussion on the topic of youth and its problems, Tom Wilkinson, Escanaba business man and chain-cigar - smoker, presented a question to John A. Lemmer, superintendent of schools.

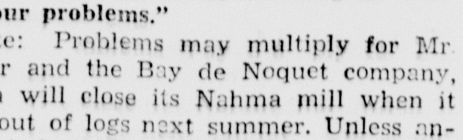
Tom wanted to know if the school teachers and officials were as strict with youngsters now as they were in the days when he attended school in Escanaba. Supt.



Lemmer replied that regulations and rules may come and go, but the boys and girls remain pretty much the same from one decade to another.

"Well, that may be so," Tom observed, "but I remember the boys getting heck if they were caught smoking within six blocks of the school house. Now they walk right up to the door."

"Perhaps," suggested Supt. Lemmer, "quite a few things were different back in the days when mothers didn't smoke!"

• • •

MORE CLOVERLAND — Not content with the news service stories that the new state ferry to be put in operation at the Straits of Mackinac will be named "Cloverland Queen," the state highway department public relations division also sent out a special release to the newspapers.

A legislative committee is held responsible by the state highway department for the selection of the name that "could be shared by the entire Upper Peninsula, which has long been famous as a clover-raising area," says the highway department.

From all indications the legislative committee will find the Upper Peninsula is more inclined to raise more hell than clover over the name of the new ferry.

• • •

CONFUSION UNLIMITED—Kurt Stoehr of Nahma and Chicago, an officer of the Bay de Noquet company and vice president of the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood association, believes the association should not add to the current confusion in Washington, D. C.

For some time the association officers discussed the possibility of supplying Office of Price Stabilization with pertinent questions on price ceilings as they affect the timber industry.

"Let's just keep our shirts on," Stoehr observed. "If Washington is confused, why add to the confusion by asking questions? Wait until they tell us what the price ceilings are and meanwhile we will continue to conduct our business as we have before. There is no law yet that says we have to run to Washington with all our problems."

Note: Problems may multiply for Mr. Stoehr and the Bay de Noquet company, which will close its Nahma mill when it runs out of logs next summer. Unless another industry locates there a new "ghost town" is in the making.

FIERY AND DYNAMIC—Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin has been called many things, as he told an audience of 1,000 in Wm. Oliver auditorium in Escanaba. His friends call him "fiery" and "dynamic" and "courageous." His enemies, he said, have accused him of everything but the murder of his great, great grandmother.

The senator himself is no slouch at name-calling. Disagreeing press and radio are "left-wing," critical individuals are "left-wing bleeding hearts," and the senator's activities are described by him as "digging out skunks."

Note: In Escanaba Sen. McCarthy's attention was directed to a story in one of Wisconsin's largest dailies, a paper of excellent reputation but editorially critical of the senator. He exploded angrily and waved the newspaper aside, a show of temper that may explain why he is called "fiery."

Americans Have Become More Serious-Minded

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—We were sitting around in the literary salons I occasionally frequent, munching clover tongues on toast and sipping champagne out of Tallulah Bankhead's old shoes and throwing knives at friends.

The subject was "Darkness At Noon," the new play from Arthur Koestler's old book about perversion of idealism in the Russian Communist party, which bred the wholesale slaughters of the '30 purges. Somebody is asking somebody if they read the book.

"Yes," the fellow said. "I read it when it came out in 1941. Didn't pay much attention to it at the time. Want to read it again."

"Why didn't you pay much attention to it then?"

"Well," the fellow said, "that was before I associated myself with destiny."

Destiny Boy Peeved

There was a generally derisive hoot. The destiny-boy got a little peeved.

"Wait a minute," he said. "I don't mean that I, me, now have such delusions of grandeur that I, me, is going to control or influence destiny, like Roosevelt or Stalin or Mussolini or Harry Truman. I mean that in the years before I never realized that I was going to have a personally important association with things that may shape the world differently.

"My point is today that everybody has a close association with destiny, and is conscious of it, and worries about it, where once upon a time he shrugged off politics and war and the people across the seas because he felt none of those things had any direct bearing on him. Times," the fellow said, "have changed."

The man has got himself a pretty good point, it seems to me. Mass sensitivity to what used to be disregarded as "heavy" stuff has increased amazingly, and the lust for information burgeoned. If what you hear from the cab drivers and the farmers and the people in parlors and bars and on trains and planes is any indication, there is a thirst today for hard facts never before paralleled. It is reflected in the avidness with which people scan the front pages, listen to newscasts, read technical books, and gabble, gabble, ceaselessly on "heavy" subjects.

Liked Light Stuff

I remember us as a largely frivolous folk, before the war, who dismissed the Washington news as mostly dull, who ignored the ordered degradation of the dollar, who feasted on the funnies and the sports page and airily waved the Cassandra editorials away. The Russians were a hairy people, far distant. The implications of the Spanish civil war were awfully unclear to the majority. We were sports fans, Hollywood fans, Amos 'N' Andy fans, and the "heavy" stuff was for heavy people, none of whom we knew very well.

There are few housewives today who cannot profanely discuss the farm lobby, every time the price of eggs and butter and meat lifts. They have become one with destiny, as their dollar drops and the price of baby bootees rises.

A youth with no space in his mind for much but girls and baseball scans his paper keenly and pins his ear to a radio for draft news. He has allied himself with destiny. The hairy Bolshevik has entered the home, today, because Cousin John got killed in Korea. We have recently experienced government control in World War II—rationing, ceiling rollback and freeze are household words, applicable to you and you and you.

News of a government budget used to be dull stuff, as was the peacetime conflict between armed services. Not no more, Mac. That tilt in the budget means another bite off your pay check, large and small. Who wins the service scrap maybe means whether Mac dies or don't die.

Outside a miniscule few, nobody fretted about physics, and "atom" meant "little." The general idea of atomic energy today, as symbolized by the bomb, rides the pillow of every John and Jane in the nation.

Self-association with destiny? Everybody you know today is conscious of it, for the simple reason everybody owns a piece of it.

Wilson-Simi

COOKS—Miss Bety Mae Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson of Cooks was united in marriage with John A. Simi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Uno Simi of Mass, by Rev. Theophil Rydbeck at the Messiah Lutheran church of Marquette.

The bride was attended by her two sisters, June and Ethel Eva Wilson and the bridegroom by his brothers, Oliver and Edward Simi. Ivan Holberg was an usher.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white taffeta, with fitted bodice, long tapering sleeves and full gathered skirt with train. Her fingertip veil was gathered to a coronet of pearls. She carried a white Bible, gift of the bridegroom's mother, and a bouquet of gardenias tied with white satin streamers. Her only jewelry, a three strand pearl necklace, was a gift from the bridegroom.

The maid-of-honor and bridesmaid wore identical gowns of chartreuse and lavendar taffeta fashioned in princess style and matching Juliet caps and carried colonial bouquets of yellow mums, roses and daffodils, with matching streamers.

The bride's mother chose a dress of navy rayon print with navy accessories and the bridegroom's mother, a dress of teal green crepe and black accessories. Both wore corsages of yellow roses.

A reception for 75 guests was held at the home of Mrs. Martin of 1748 Fitch street, after which the couple left to spend a few days at an unannounced destination. They will make their home at 1746 Longyear avenue, Marquette.

The bride is a graduate of Cooks high school and was a second year student at St. Luke's School of Nursing in Marquette. The bridegroom was graduated from Mass high school after which he attended Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton three years. He is a veteran of World War II and spent 3½ years in the European theatre. He is employed in the engineering department of the Duluth South Shore Railroad in Marquette.

Out of town guests were Miss Helga Simi of Milford, Mich.; Oliver Simi of Los Alamos, New Mexico; Edward Simi, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Uno Simi, Mr. and Mrs. Arvo Raaska and daughter Selmi, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nora of Mass; Mr. and Mrs. John Middaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Middaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson and family and Mrs. Lloyd Carley of Cooks; Mrs. Albert Swanson, Mrs. Roy Archie and Mrs. Wallace Osterhout of Cooks

New in Style—New in Structure—New in Power—New in Thrift—Potent in Price Appeal—It's the 1951 BUICK SPECIAL!

HERE is good news for folks with a shrewd eye for what their dollars will buy.

Here is a tidy traveler that defies the upward trend of costs—proudly wears a 1951 price tag like that which zoomed last year's SPECIAL into popularity so great that it put a crimp in "the low-priced three."

Take our word for it, this is every inch and ounce a Buick—Buick-featured, Buick-designed, Buick-built from the ground up—but literally the newest thing on wheels.

The sturdy and ample body is new. The high-strength frame is new. The power is new to the SPECIAL, which now has the thrifty F-263 engine that first made its name in the SUPER, and here delivers 120 horsepower with standard transmission—128 with Dynaflow Drive.*

It's a Buick with less weight and more power—and that spells a pair of new thrills for you. There's a performance thrill such as you've never enjoyed in the SPECIAL—plus a handsome gas-saving into the bargain.

We'll make a prediction now as to what title folks will give it, once they get it out on the road.

That title in three words, will be: "Thriftiest Buick Yet!"

Better hurry around to your Buick dealer's and look this marvel over. We'll give you another prediction—which is:

Once this one's discovered, the demand will be terrific.

No other car provides all this:

DYNAFLOW DRIVE • FIREBALL POWER • PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT • WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS • TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE • 4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING • DREAMLINE STYLING • DUAL VENTILATION • BODY BY FISHER

We're Not Losing Cold War to Reds, Great Gains Made During Past Year

A national public opinion poll came up recently with some rather astounding statistics. It found that 30 per cent of the American people thought the Russians were winning the cold war, while only nine per cent believed this country had the edge.

The rest either felt neither side was winning, had no opinion, or didn't know what was meant by "cold war."

But if this is an accurate index of U. S. mood today, it is at sharp variance with the facts as seen by many of our most able leaders and seasoned experts.

Indeed, some of those officials are pretty upset over what they consider the foolish defeatism they find on every hand. One such is Robert A. Lovett, undersecretary of defense, who can't understand why a nation of such unmatched power should at the peak of its strength be acting like a weak sister in the face of the Communist dragons.

People talk of pulling our forces out of Korea.

People talk, too, as if 1950 were almost total gain for the Russians and their satellite friends, and total loss for us.

Barbara Ward, British author of two well-regarded books on western policy toward the Soviet Union, declares flatly that this gloom just isn't warranted. Writing in the New York Times magazine, she insists that 1950 in fact was a year of setbacks for Communist strategy.

Without minimizing the real and dangerous division among the free nations over China, she says this rift had obscured the more important fact of a substantial increase in European unity. Europe, after all, is conceded on all sides to be the really crucial theater of conflict with Russia.

Only the most negative-minded Americans talk of abandoning Europe to its fate. Most others, including such Republican leaders as Senator Taft, are agreed that Europe's defense is essential to our own. Debate today is simply over ways of effecting that defense.

Correspondingly, in Europe much less is heard now of staying "neutral" in a future war between the U. S. and Russia. In this respect, says Miss Ward, France's action toward real rearmament is far more significant than disputes over Chiang Kai-shek's prospects.

Nor, she concludes, is pessimism justified in any appraisal of our actual military status. To be sure, we and other western powers are not adequately armed to resist Soviet attack. But are we worse off than before 1950?

Miss Ward thinks not. She says: "The critics who argue that Korea is a fatal drain on western armaments assume that without Korea there would have been armaments on which to drain. But if we in the West deal frankly with ourselves, we have to admit that without Korea—nay, more, without the disasters in Korea—western rearmament still would not have left the stage of the blueprint."

In other words, she feels that Korea woke us up to the dangers we face, and set us on the road to real defense for the first time. In that sense, despite its cost to us in men and equipment and dollars, Korea has been more to our advantage than to the Communists'.

Miss Ward believes, too, that every year which passes gives the people of the world a better chance to compare the evil workings of communism with the vision and progress of free democracy.

She complains, however, that we of the free world do too little advertising of the positive side of our ledger. Many a competent analyst looking at America today makes the same complaint: we don't talk enough about the good things, the things that are going right both here at home and in the rest of the world.

Says Miss Ward: "The Soviet half (of the world) has shouted to high heaven its reimposition of slavery. The Western World has introduced new concepts of freedom and cooperation with conspiratorial stealth."

Don't you think Miss Ward has something here?

Modern Speed Has Its Disadvantages

SO you think you are better off zipping along the highway at 60 miles an hour or flying through the air at 200 miles an hour than your grandfather was plodding behind his team of oxen.

And you think you have it a lot better with your vacuum sweeper than grandma had it with her hand sweep or dust mop.

Well, Dr. Jonathan Forman, editor of the Ohio State Medical Journal, disagrees with you.

Speaking at Jackson a few days ago, Dr. Forman said: "When we travel at 60 miles an hour or fly through the air we are exposed to more pollen in one trip than our grandfathers were in their entire lives.

"In homes, vacuum cleaners grind up dust until it's fine enough to breathe and damage mucuous membranes.

"We go into air conditioned buildings and chill mucuous membranes, then step out into the broiling sun. They are not built to stand that treatment."

The point the doctor was making is that modern living has led to an increase in allergies. Which seems to prove that progress isn't always all progress.

You Can't Take It With You

ARE you having trouble making both ends meet?

Then listen to the story of Alexis and Germaine Jean Gatabin of South Kingstown, R. I.

Alexis was a church caretaker who probably never earned more than $25 a week. But he and his wife lived frugally and saved.

They invested their savings in securities. Having bought securities, they never sold any.

They invested the earnings of their securities.

Alexis died last year at the age of 83. His wife, 68, died last month.

When the estate was probated, it was found their securities were worth $100,000 and they owned their house valued at $15,000.

There probably are companion morals to this story: It can be done—and you can't take it with you.

West Pointer Stays Out Of Service

NO one denies professional football player Glenn Davis the right to get married.

In fact, after seeing pictures of his movie actress bride, attractive Terry Moore, most persons might even envy him.

But there still seems little justification for the fact that Davis, who was educated at West Point Military Academy as a future army officer at the taxpayers' expense, has declined to serve in the army for the country that educated him. Instead, he refuses a proffered army commission and prefers to work for an oil company in Texas—when he isn't drawing a big salary for playing professional football in sunny California.

Meanwhile his former West Point teammates like John Trent, Arnold Galiffa and Tom Lombardo are fighting and dying in Korea. It hardly seems fair to the thousands of boys in Korea, most of whom had to pay for their own education as well as the education of Davis.

FOLLOW UP ON RFC CHARGES
(Milwaukee Journal)

A few days ago a Senate subcommittee, headed by Senator Fulbright, charged that three members of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. board had yielded to political pressure in authorizing RFC loans.

Now President Truman submits the names of all five present members for confirmation. He does this for the simple reason that, since the Senate did not confirm the appointments last session, their future pay may now be in jeopardy. Three of the members are serving as recess appointees. The other two are holdovers.

Under the circumstances, there need not necessarily be criticism of the president for his action. The situation does, however, call for a speedy completion of the inquiry into the behavior of the three board members charged with serious improprieties.

Even last August, when the appointments were originally made, there was criticism of RFC procedures. It was at least partly because of this that the Senate refused to confirm the appointments then made.

The Senate cannot shirk this responsibility further. Neither can it proceed with confirmations until it knows the breadth and depth of the charges which have been made. They must not be shrugged off.

Cowboy Life

MARTIN

You may like to kid your kids about their love of cowboy stuff, and the western tales and scenese of which they never get enough. You may chuckle when you hear them cheer the hero strong and clean, as he flashes 'cross the movie or the television screen. But perhaps, if you would speak the truth, the kids are not alone, and you've got a lot of western admiration of your own.

For you find it's quite exciting when the stagecoach rounds the bend, and the bandits on the unsuspecting travelers descend. Or the cattle rustlers ride by night to steal a herd of beef, and the hero comes a-shootin' to the heroine's relief. Then you've got enthusiasm that you didn't know you had, as the sheriff takes to jail a bunch of cowpokes who are "bad."

They are just a bunch of varmints, you are told by smaller fry, and the hero, he was "good" and would, for justice, do or die. Then you realize the western show you thoroughly enjoyed, and your secret yen for such a life has never been destroyed. And you know that though you kid the kids about the cowboy craze, you'll be ridin' hell-for-leather the remainder of your days.

WASHINGTON—Some senators seem to believe that it is a criminal matter for a newspaper to criticize military mistakes. This is a view also shared by many brass hats—though not all.

However, mstakes are sometimes rectified chiefly through knowing about them, and a case in point is the magnificent manner in which Gen. Matthew Ridgway has profited from the mistakes of General MacArthur in turning a tragic defeat into Korean victory.

While the very loyal MacArthur clique may argue that he is still supreme commander in Tokyo, and therefore deserves credit for the current victory, the indisputable facts are that General Ridgway was sent to Korea direct from Washington where he had been deputy chief of staff and as such was in close contact with the Pentagon's views of warfare. It also is an indisputable fact that Ridgway won his victory with no new fresh troops and facing a somewhat stronger enemy than MacArthur.

According to military observers who read the battle dispatches, here is how Ridgway profited by mistakes and accomplished his remarkable feat.

CAREFUL INTELLIGENCE

MacArthur conducted only limited patrolling for three or four days before launching his attack. Then, after the attack boomeranged, the Eighth army retreated so fast that it lost all contact with the enemy and for several weeks didn't know where the Communists were.

In contrast, Ridgway conducted aggressive patrolling for eight to ten days before kicking off his offensive. He sent heavy patrols deep into enemy territory in so-called "reconnaissance in force." His orders were to disrupt any Communist build-up, to inflict as many casualties as possible and to survey enemy positions. The lack of patrolling by MacArthur failed to detect the Chinese Communist build-up that swept our armies back to the 38th parallel. However, Ridgway's troops knew exactly what to expect.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

MacArthur announced his offensive the same morning it was launched, predicting his troops would be "home by Christmas." Ridgway waited until his offensive had been rolling over 24 hours before announcing it.

POOR BATTLE LIAISON

MacArthur struck in all directions at once. His troops were fanned out from one end of North Korea to the other, in no position to head off a surprise counterattack. The Eighth army and Tenth corps also had no battle liason, had to coordinate their actions through Tokyo.

In contrast, Ridgway opened his attack on the western front, but didn't order his eastern front to move until nine days later —after he was sure all was going well. He had the added advantage of being in full command in the field, and wasn't forced to direct two fronts by remote control from Tokyo.

CONTRAST IN CASUALTIES

MacArthur suffered devastating casualties after the Chinese hit, lost more than 15,000 casualties in two weeks. Later, the Marines, who broke out of the Chosin reservoir trap, mowed down the Chinese at a ratio of 20 to one. However, Ridgway's losses during the first two weeks of his offensive were the lightest of the Korean war. He suffered less than 1,500 casualties, at the same time taking a toll of 52,000 Communist casualties.

In fairness to MacArthur and in tribute to the air force, Ridgway has been meeting more scattered opposition. This is largely because the air force has raked enemy positions with devastating fire bombs and rocket fire. Ridgway's aggressive, armored patrols also killed and rooted out Communists along the path of the offensive. As a result, the main Chinese Communist force is reported to be digging in north of the 38th parallel.

It should also be pointed out that MacArthur's supply lines in North Korea were stretched, whereas the Chinese Communists were then only a few miles from their supply bases. This situation has now been reversed.

Ridgway's advance patrolling and careful preparation, however, made the big difference between defeat and victory.

SOME SURPRISING FACTS ABOUT THE WORD BEGGAR

Have you ever noticed that the word beggar is "ar" and not "er" in the second syllable? Why is it that the word does not follow the customary "er" spelling of such words as baker, lawyer, speaker, etc., in which "er" stands for "an agent or doer"?

The answer lies in the history of the queer word biggar, which, incidentally, is a word of French, and not Anglo-Saxon, origin.

In the 12th century, a priest of Liege, Belgium, Lambert le Begue, formed the hospital and church of St. Christopher for the purpose of caring for the widows and orphaned children of crusaders. He also established an association of women whose duty was to support the institution by soliciting alms and performing various duties.

These women served as nuns, but they took no vows and retained their property and independence. In honor of the founder, they became known as Beguines (pronounced: bay-GHEEN), and the convent-like places where they lived were known as beguinages (bay-ghee-NAZH).

Sometime later, an association of men was organized for much the same reason, and these monk-like workers were called Begards (or Beghards), a word which in French also came to mean "mendicants; solicitors of alms." The Begards soon degenerated into groups of wandering, disorganized mendicants who made religion a cloak for living on charity.

Highly Strategic Indochina May Be Next On Reds' Timetable

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The explosive threat of another Korea is riveting world attention on Indochina, a strife-ridden land faced with the ominous danger of Chinese Communist intervention.

This highly strategic country, situated in a commanding position on the South China Sea, is shown —with emphasis on its "powder-keg" spots—in a new map of the area especially prepared for newspaper use by National Geographic Society cartographers.

Apparent from the map is the long border—it measures 830 miles —which Indochina shares with Red China. Much of this frontier region is rugged or mountainous, ideal terrain for infiltrating guerrilla columns or supply-running parties.

By far the most critical stretch is the 620-mile border which marks the division between China and the territory of North Viet Nam, the military hot spot now and for some time past. This outpost province (formerly known as Tonkin), plus Annam and Cochin China, makes up the State of Viet Nam of today.

Embattled Rice Bowl

In North Viet Nam, around Hanoi on the rice-bowl plain of the Red (Rouge) River, French and Viet Nam forces, considerably strengthened in recent weeks, have been standing off the reinforced insurgents of Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh. The situation, with elements paralleling those of Greece in 1947 and Korea a year ago, could overnight produce a major second Asian war front deeply involving the world's great powers.

Shown on the plainly marked North Viet Nam portion of the National Geographic map are Hanoi, market center of the teeming Red River basin, and Haiphong, Hanoi's port, 50 miles to the east.

Hanoi, Haiphong, and Moncay, are still held by the French-supported Viet Nam government headed by Bao Dai, former emperor of Annam. This is due to the stiffened resistance of 150,000 French troops arrayed against Ho's Communist army. The latter, the so-called Viet Minh forces, control important areas, however. In a series of limited offensives last year, they captured a number of key French outposts, such as Laokay, Caobang, Langson, and Locbinh, shown on the map astride border passes between China and Indochina.

Railroads and highways have been drawn in this No. 1 area of Viet Nam's four-year-old civil warfare according to last-minute information from military and a variety of other sources.

Reliable authorities indicate, for example, that the railroad northwest from Hanoi along the Red River through Laokay on the border has quite recently been in service or under advanced repair all the way to Mengtsz and Kumming, China. Both anti-communist and communist forces would stand to benefit, depending on the portions of the rail line within their control.

Three Associated States

Viet Nam's status as the heartland of Texas-sized Indochina is plain from the fact that, totaling little more than two-fifths of the country's area, it holds five-sixths of the population—22.5 out of 27 million. A restored ancient name, Viet Nam means "people of the south," thus describing the new state's geographic relation to China.

Little concerned thus far in the strife are Cambodia and Laos, the remaining two of the five provinces in prewar French Indo-china. These ancient kingdoms with Viet Nam now comprise the Associated States of Indochina, which have been launched on the road to independence in handling their affairs but still operate within the framework of the French Union.

Born as a puppet state under Japanese World War II occupation, Viet Nam after VJ-day sought self-government under its then leader, the gaunt Ho Chi Minh. The French, who have wielded power in Indochina since the 1600's, tried at first to cooperate in Ho's purported nationalist aims. They soon found, however, that his goal was subservience to the Kremlin rather than true national independence.

Therefore, France in 1948 switched support to Bao Dai as Viet Nam's Chief of State. The United States, Great Britain, and others recognized his government.

Ho's shooting war by that time was already more than one year old. Besides closing in around Hanoi in the north, his guerillas have terrorized the principal cities and towns of Central Viet Nam (Annam) and South Viet Nam (Cochin China), shown on the map. By such tactics even parts of Saigon, Viet Nam's capital and the country's chief seaport, have at times been Viet Nam by day and Viet Minh by night.

Both Sides Gather Strength

As 1951 advances, Viet Nam under Bao Dai finds its strength increasing from the low ebb of last autumn when the Reds overwhelmed so many of Tonkin's outposts. French troops have been revitalized under the new command of General Jean de Lattre de Tassigny. Native support has increased as the French schedule for full Indochinese independence has progressed. U. S. military and economic assistance, accelerated since war in Korea, is producing results.

Viet Minh, supported openly by Soviet Russia and her satellites for the past year, proved in its autumn offensives that it was well supplied with arms and planning from across the Chinese frontier. As in Korea, near-by Communist Chinese soil is sanctuary for the Indochina insurgents whenever hard pressed. Also, as in Korea, this convenient sanctuary may prove to be the Red-rigged jack-in-the-box that can hurtle hordes of Chinese "volunteers" into action alongside Ho's depleted battalions, and turn the tide of battle.

Hanging southward from China, Indochina, as the map shows, strikingly resembles the Korean peninsula, which is suspended like an appendix from Manchuria. Indochina, with slightly less population, is more than three times Korea's size. Lying wholly within the Torrid Zone on Asia's bulging southeastern peninsula that holds Thailand (Siam), Burma, and Malaya. Indochina has climate far warmer than Korea's.

Mountains towering to 8,000 feet and more make travel rugged through most of Indochina. The map suggests how such barriers largely determined the boundaries of the land's ancient kingdoms. They affect military planning as does February fog in the lowlands and a long rainy season beginning in May, and building up to the violent typhoons of late summer.

Rice Paces Economy

Normally a world leader in rice export, Indochina grows its big crop in three fertile lowland regions where population is densest. The largest, an Ohio-sized area of Cochin China and Cambodia, is the delta region of the great Mekong River, which courses through or along the west border of Indochina for some 1,900 miles. Second is the Red River basin. Third is the long narrow strip of Annamese coast joining the other two.

Tea, tobacco, cotton, and coffee are other crops in this warm land where farming still provides three-fourths of all income. Vast forests, especially in mountainous, land-locked Laos, promise a growing lumber trade. Coal and iron lead a long list of mine products.

Some 17 million Annamese, resembling the Chinese and inhabiting the lowlands, account for most of the population of Viet Nam. Cambodians number three million, as do the various and generally less advanced mountain tribes.

Half a million Chinese dominate small trade; a few thousand French have in the past run the government and the larger businesses.

Is It Necessary?

Dear Sir:

I have wondered whether or not the residents of the City of Escanaba keep track of the expenditures and activities of the city officials outside of election time, or do the vast majority forget about their city after elections are over and lose their interest in city affairs.

I wonder how many of the citizens of Escanaba know that a new executive position has been created and is called "Commissioner of Public Safety". This position is somewhere between the city manager and the chief of police and fire departments. He supervises the police department, including the chief of police, and the fire department. I understand that the position of chief of the fire department has been abolished. Whether or not the Commissioner has personally replaced a man in the fire department is unknown.

This office of supervisor of public safety apparently has his duties delegated to him by the city manager. It appears that the office is a go between between the city manager's office and the police and fire departments. At any rate, the position has all the characteristics in name and duties that a city ten times the size of Escanaba might have, if it could afford it.

To me, this office is entirely unnecessary in a city the size of Escanaba. The city manager should assume and perform at least some of the duties of his office. Our chief of police is wholly competent to run his department without a young and inexperienced supervisor on his shirt tails. The city police has been an efficient organization, without this overhead, up to a few months ago. It certainly can continue. The fire department has experienced men in its ranks who can operate that department without being hampered by rules and regulations of an inexperienced man who has never served a day with any civil fire department.

It seems to me that it would be better to hire more men for patrol duty in the police department, where help is needed, than to create executive positions such as assistant city manager and commissioner of public safety. It would put the increased expense where it belongs and, of necessity, require the city manager to perform, himself, the duties for which he was named.

A Reader.

SLIPS THAT PASS—Norman Moe of the Kimberly-Clark corportion, a Wisconsin firm, was reminded of a story. The reminder came at a recent convention of the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood Manufacturers association in Escanaba.

There was a small-town newspaper editor, Moe reported, who was chagrined at the hilarity caused by one of his news items that went like this:

"The ladies of the church have cast off clothing of all kinds. They may be seen in the church basement any afternoon."

The story is amusing but hardly apropos of Mr. Moe's subject—wage stabilization. Perhaps Mr. Moe was right when he warned the timber producers that wage stabilization is a dull topic and that may have been excuse for the story.

CHANGING TIMES—It isn't only the newspapers that take an occasional ribbing from speakers. Other institutions of learning come in for a derisive hoot.

At a recent PTA-sponsored panel discussion on the topic of youth and its problems, Tom Wilkinson, Escanaba business man and chain-cigar - smoker, presented a question to John A. Lemmer, superintendent of schools.

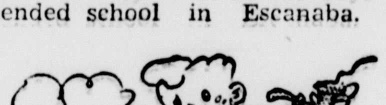
Tom wanted to know if the school teachers and officials were as strict with youngsters now as they were in the days when he attended school in Escanaba. Supt. Lemmer replied that regulations and rules may come and go, but the boys and girls remain pretty much the same from one decade to another.



"Well, that may be so," Tom observed, "but I remember the boys getting heck if they were caught smoking within six blocks of the school house. Now they walk right up to the door."

"Perhaps," suggested Supt. Lemmer, "quite a few things were different back in the days when mothers didn't smoke!"

MORE CLOVERLAND — Not content with the news service stories that the new state ferry to be put in operation at the Straits of Mackinac will be named "Cloverland Queen," the state highway department public relations division also sent out a special release to the newspapers.

A legislative committee is held responsible by the state highway department for the selection of the name that "could be shared by the entire Upper Peninsula, which has long been famous as a clover-raising area," says the highway department.

From all indications the legislative committee will find the Upper Peninsula is more inclined to raise more hell than clover over the name of the new ferry.

CONFUSION UNLIMITED—Kurt Stoehr of Nahma and Chicago, an officer of the Bay de Noquet company and vice president of the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood association, believes the association should not add to the current confusion in Washington, D. C.

For some time the association officers discussed the possibility of supplying Office of Price Stabilization with pertinent questions on price ceilings as they affect the timber industry.

"Let's just keep our shirts on," Stoehr observed. "If Washington is confused, why add to the confusion by asking questions? Wait until they tell us what the price ceilings are and meanwhile we will continue to conduct our business as we have before. There is no law yet that says we have to run to Washington with all our problems."

Note: Problems may multiply for Mr. Stoehr and the Bay de Noquet company, which will close its Nahma mill when it runs out of logs next summer. Unless another industry locates there a new "ghost town" is in the making.

FIERY AND DYNAMIC—Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin has been called many things, as he told an audience of 1,000 in Wm. Oliver auditorium in Escanaba. His friends call him "fiery" and "dynamic" and "courageous." His enemies, he said, have accused him of everything but the murder of his great, great grandmother.

The senator himself is no slouch at name-calling. Disagreeing press and radio are "left-wing," critical individuals are "left-wing bleeding hearts," and the senator's activities are described by him as "digging out skunks."

Note: In Escanaba Sen. McCarthy's attention was directed to a story in one of Wisconsin's largest dailies, a paper of excellent reputation but editorially critical of the senator. He exploded angrily and waved the newspaper aside, a show of temper that may explain why he is called "fiery."

Americans Have Become More Serious-Minded

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—We were sitting around in the literary salons I occasionally frequent, munching clover tongues on toast and sipping champagne out of Tallulah Bankhead's old shoes and throwing knives at friends.

The subject was "Darkness At Noon," the new play from Arthur Koestler's old book about perversion of idealism in the Russian Communist party, which bred the wholesale slaughters of the '30 purges. Somebody is asking somebody if they read the book.

"Yes," the fellow said. "I read it when it came out in 1941. Didn't pay much attention to it at the time. Want to read it again."

"Why didn't you pay much attention to it then?"

"Well," the fellow said, "that was before I associated myself with destiny."

Destiny Boy Peeved

There was a generally derisive hoot. The destiny-boy got a little peeved.

"Wait a minute," he said. "I don't mean that I, me, now have such delusions of grandeur that I, me, is going to control or influence destiny, like Roosevelt or Stalin or Mussolini or Harry Truman. I mean that in the years before I never realized that I was going to have a personally important association with things that may shape the world differently.

"My point is today that everybody has a close association with destiny, and is conscious of it, and worries about it, where once upon a time he shrugged off politics and war and the people across the seas because he felt none of those things had any direct bearing on him. Times," the fellow said, "have changed."

The man has got himself a pretty good point, it seems to me. Mass sensitivity to what used to be disregarded as "heavy" stuff has increased amazingly, and the lust for information burgeoned. If what you hear from the cab drivers and the farmers and the people in parlors and bars and on trains and planes is any indication, there is a thirst today for hard facts never before paralleled. It is reflected in the avidness with which people scan the front pages, listen to newscasts, read technical books, and gabble, gabble, ceaselessly on "heavy" subjects.

Liked Light Stuff

I remember us as a largely frivolous folk, before the war, who dismissed the Washington news as mostly dull, who ignored the ordered degradation of the dollar, who feasted on the funnies and the sports page and airily waved the Cassandra editorials away. The Russians were a hairy people, far distant. The implications of the Spanish civil war were awfully unclear to the majority. We were sports fans, Hollywood fans, Amos 'N' Andy fans, and the "heavy" stuff was for heavy people, none of whom we knew very well.

There are few housewives today who cannot profanely discuss the farm lobby, every time the price of eggs and butter and meat lifts. They have become one with destiny, as their dollar drops and the price of baby bootees rises.

A youth with no space in his mind for much but girls and baseball scans his paper keenly and pins his ear to a radio for draft news. He has allied himself with destiny. The hairy Bolshevik has entered the home, today, because Cousin John got killed in Korea. We have recently experienced government control in World War II—rationing, ceiling rollback and freeze are household words, applicable to you and you and you.

News of a government budget used to be dull stuff, as was the peacetime conflict between armed services. Not no more, Mac. That tilt in the budget means another bite off your pay check, large and small. Who wins the service scrap maybe means whether Mac dies or don't die.

Outside a miniscule few, nobody fretted about physics, and "atom" meant "little." The general idea of atomic energy today, as symbolized by the bomb, rides the pillow of every John and Jane in the nation.

Self-association with destiny? Everybody you know today is conscious of it, for the simple reason everybody owns a piece of it.

Cooks

Wilson-Simi

COOKS—Miss Bety Mae Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson of Cooks was united in marriage with John A. Simi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Uno Simi of Mass, by Rev. Theophil Rydbeck at the Messiah Lutheran church of Marquette.

The bride was attended by her two sisters, June and Ethel Eva Wilson and the bridegroom by his brothers, Oliver and Edward Simi. Ivan Holberg was an usher.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white taffeta, with fitted bodice, long tapering sleeves and full gathered skirt with train. Her fingertip veil was gathered to a coronet of pearls. She carried a white Bible, gift of the bridegroom's mother, and a bouquet of gardenias tied with white satin streamers. Her only jewelry, a three strand pearl necklace, was a gift from the bridegroom.

The maid-of-honor and bridesmaid wore identical gowns of chartreuse and lavendar taffeta fashioned in princess style and matching Juliet caps and carried colonial bouquets of yellow mums, roses and daffodils, with matching streamers.

The bride's mother chose a dress of navy rayon print with navy accessories and the bridegroom's mother, a dress of teal green crepe and black accessories. Both wore corsages of yellow roses.

A reception for 75 guests was held at the home of Mrs. Martin of 1748 Fitch street, after which the couple left to spend a few days at an unannounced destination. They will make their home at 1746 Longyear avenue, Marquette.

The bride is a graduate of Cooks high school and was a second year student at St. Luke's School of Nursing in Marquette. The bridegroom was graduated from Mass high school after which he attended Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton three years. He is a veteran of World War II and spent 3½ years in the European theatre. He is employed in the engineering department of the Duluth South Shore Railroad in Marquette.

FIREBALL POWERED

Take your pick! 4-door Sedans, 2-door Sedans, 6- and 3-passenger Coupes, Rivieras, Convertibles

New in Style—New in Structure—New in Power—New in Thrift—Potent in Price Appeal—It's the 1951 BUICK SPECIAL!

HERE is good news for folks with a shrewd eye for what their dollars will buy.

Here is a tidy traveler that defies the upward trend of costs—proudly wears a 1951 price tag like that which zoomed last year's SPECIAL into popularity so great that it put a crimp in "the low-priced three."

Take our word for it, this is every inch and ounce a Buick—Buick-featured, Buick-designed, Buick-built from the ground up—but literally the newest thing on wheels.

The sturdy and ample body is new. The high-strength frame is new. The power is new to the SPECIAL, which now has the thrifty F-263 engine that first made its name in the SUPER, and here delivers 120 horsepower with standard transmission—128 with Dynaflow Drive.*

It's a Buick with less weight and more power—and that spells a pair of new thrills for you. There's a performance thrill such as you've never enjoyed in the SPECIAL—plus a handsome gas-saving into the bargain.

We'll make a prediction now as to what title folks will give it, once they get it out on the road. That title in three words, will be: "Thriftiest Buick Yet!"

Better hurry around to your Buick dealer's and look this marvel over. We'll give you another prediction—which is:

Once this one's discovered, the demand will be terrific.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

No other car provides all this:

DYNAFLOW DRIVE • FIREBALL POWER • PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT • WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS • TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE • 4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING • DREAMLINE STYLING • DUAL VENTILATION • BODY BY FISHER

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

The Food in these baskets cost the same. Which gives you the most for your money ?
Michigan Dept of Health
Food value in this basket

HOW TO GET THE MOST FOR YOUR DOLLAR is demonstrated with aid of an effective food basket and chart display by Alice H. Smith, chief of the nutrition section of the Michigan Department of Health, who spent several days in this district at the invitation of the Delta-Menominee Health Department. Mrs. Smith conducted a series of conferences with health and school groups in the two counties. (Escanaba Daily Press Photo)

Knowing Food Values Important In Stretching Shopping Dollar

Solution of the ever-present problem of the modern homemaker, providing three meals a day, is the job of Alice H. Smith, chief of the nutrition section of the Michigan Department of Health, Lansing, who spent a week in this area at the invitation of the Delta Menominee Health Department.

Mrs. Smith, of course, cannot change the price markings on staple groceries and meats at the food market, but she does have a fund of valuable information on calories, vitamins and healthful nutrition in general that will help the shopper get the most for his dollar. Working through the local personnel of the health department and the schools she has been conducting meetings and conferences with individuals and lay groups in the state department's program along this line.

Effective Display

An effective but simple display which tells the story at a glance is used by Mrs. Smith in her work. It consists of two baskets of groceries, neatly itemized foods contained in each, and a comparative chart which shows the food values of each.

Mrs. Smith is emphatic about a number of ways to obtain the most in food value.

"Milk in all forms is foremost in importance" she said in discussing the food situation. "Also necessary are the green and yellow vegetables and the citrus fruits and tomatoes. Residents of Michigan should remember to use idodized salt for all purposes. Michigan waters are free of iodine and all people require a small amount of it.

Bulletins Available

"All bread and flour should be enriched," she continued. "And another excellent source of food at low cost is the non-fat dry milk solids, known as powdered skim milk, which contains both proteins and calcium and which may be used as successfully in all forms of cooking as it is as a beverage."

To supplement her work, since conferences which cover an entire state are limited by time, Mrs. Smith has a variety of pamphlets, issued by the Department of Health, which are to be had for the asking. Among them are "Food and Tuberculosis," "What to Eat Before and After the Baby Comes," "Nutrition Education in Schools," "As the Little Child Eats So Will He Grow," "Your Food and Your Figure," "Check Up On Your Meals," "Vitamins," "Vitamin C Calendar for Michigan," and others on packing lunches and on wild greens, vegetables, milk and fruits. They present their subjects in an interesting manner and are well worth study by the housewife whose prime concern is her family's welfare.

A special meeting of St. Patrick's Guild will be held Monday evening at 8 at the parish hall. It is urgent that every member attend.

Story Hour At Library Saturday

"Elizabite", the story of a man-eating flower, and "The Three Silly Kittens" characters taken from "Jack and Jill", children's magazine, will be told by Miss Betty M. Harris, children's librarian, at the story hour Saturday morning at 10 at Carnegie public library. The attendance last Saturday was 35.

If you want longer wear from your gloves, never tug or jerk them on or off. Remember the seams are strained when you keep pressing down between the fingers, say Michigan State College home economists. No thread, not even nylon, is strong enough to withstand much of this abuse.

State Federation Meeting In April At Newberry

The Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its annual convention in Newberry April 25-27, the convention, the second to be held in the Upper Peninsula in 56 years.

Plans have been made by Mrs. Joseph Kangery, state president, and Mrs. Francis P. Furlong, local chairman, for a most successful three-day meeting of representatives from all federated clubs in the state as well as state and national federation officers.

The first day of the convention will include a trip on the new road to the famous Tahquamenon Falls. Miss Ethel Larsen, General Federation consultant on the conservation of natural resources, will conduct the trip. A Swedisn smorgasbord, replete with costumes, music and display of Swedish articles will follow the Falls trip.

First Showing

Choral competition will take place later in the evening with the all-state chorus in several numbers. Mrs. H. E. Krusell, state chairman of music, will be in charge. A midnight preview of "The Magnificent Yankee", the film of the life of Oliver Wendell Holmes, will be held at the State theatre, through the courtesy of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, J. Frank Downey, resident manager, Detroit, and Mrs. Max Williams, state motion picture chairman. The picture will be shown in Radio City in March but will have its first Michigan showing in Newberry.

Luncheons, the president's banquet, outstanding addresses, other entertainment and workshops are planned for the two following days. Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman, General Federation vice president, will be principal speaker at the banquet. Mrs. R. I. C. Prout, General federation treasurer, and other state and district officers will attend.

Art Display

Exhibits will include an art display under the supervision of Mrs. Otis Tewksbury, state chairman of art and penny art. Members will vote on the pictures they like best and those receiving the most votes will be purchased for the Interlochen traveling art exhibit. Artists who wish to exhibit and sell their paintings are asked to contact Mrs. Tewksbury, 1856 Pinecrest Drive, Ferndale, 20, at once.

Host organizations are the Newberry Study club and the Newberry Chamber of Commerce. Reservations are to be sent to Mrs. Furlong, 315 West McMillan avenue, Newberry.

It's important not to overbeat, as well as not to underbeat the eggs, in making sponge cake. Overbeaten eggs are said to account for the humps or cracks sometimes seen on sponge cake.

When a recipe calls for toasted blanched almonds, the nuts should have their skins removed first, then be browned lightly in the oven.

Pickpockets Union Helps Cupid Along

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt —(AP)— Alexandria's pickpockets have a union with a membership of 400 men and women, police discovered recently.

The union, besides taking care of its members' interests, also arranges for marriages between male and female pickpockets.

The dowry paid by the bridegroom (in Egypt, it's the man who pays the dowry) is proportional to the "professional" ability of the bride.

DO YOU HATE CHANGE of LIFE?

Do you suffer from hot flushes, nervous tension, upset emotions—due to functional 'change of life' (38 to 52 years)—that period when fertility ebbs away, when symptoms of this nature may often betray your age?

Start taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. No other medicine of this type for women has such a long record of success. Taken regularly, Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such middle-age distress. A great medicine made especially for women. The woman's friend! NOTE: Or you may prefer Lydia E. ## Veteran Relief Problems Aired

Agencies Agree On Coordination Idea

Coordination of the relief program in Schoolcraft county as it relates to war veterans was discussed by representatives of various agencies Wednesday night at the courthouse.

A recommendation was made that all veteran relief cases be funneled through the county veterans counselor and that a specific program of procedure be adopted for handling veterans relief needs.

Another meeting of the various relief groups is to be held at which time specific methods for taking care of veteran relief needs are to be adopted and incorporated in a written guide, it was decided. No date was set for the meeting.

Johnson Presides

Merrill Johnson, chairman of the Schoolcraft county veterans council, presided at the meeting. Agencies represented including the county social welfare department, soldiers' and sailors' relief commission, American Red Cross, veterans' trust fund, veterans' council, county welfare agent, judge of probate, county board of supervisors, and the three service organizations—Veterans' of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, and the American Legion.

Everett Anderson, chairman of the trust fund, explained the operation of the Michigan trust organization and its financial limitations in providing emergency aid for veterans. Maria Tracy, county relief administrator, described how the county unit processes relief cases, including veterans. The program of the Red Cross in aiding veterans was presented by J. Mauritz Carlson, and Fred H. Hahne discussed the soldiers' and sailors' relief commission.

Reasons Given

Causes leading to the coordination effort were explained by the meeting chairman in his opening remarks. These included numerous complaints that needy veterans were being shunted from one relief agency to another without obtaining help.

Another reason for the coordination plan, he said, was to ascertain if a needy veteran was qualified for some state or federal relief before county funds were used.

A third reason for organizing veteran relief and channeling the cases through one "clearing house" is to prevent possible duplication of relief allowance, he explained.

The meeting was convened by Walter Burns, chairman of the board of supervisors.

Michigan Band Here April 13

Group Will Make Peninsula Tour

The University of Michigan band, on a five-concert tour of the Upper Peninsula from April 9 to 13, will play in Manistique on Friday, April 13, it is announced by the local U. of M. Alumni club.

Other concerts during the tour will be given in Sault Ste. Marie on April 9, Iron Mountain April 10, Iron River April 11, and Escanaba April 12.

The band consists of 75 members and is led by Dr. William D. Revelli who for more than 20 years has been one of the guiding personalities behind the band movement in the United States.

The band played at the Rose Bowl on New Year's Lay. Its last concert tour of the Upper Peninsula was in 1948.

Liquor Commission Adding New Brands

LANSING — (AP)—The state liquor control commission has added 28 new brands of Scotch, Bourbon, Canadian and blended whiskies to its list of items available in all outlets.

"We want to insure having plenty of sources of supply if liquor gets scarce," said Chairman George Burke, jr.

"These new items, which run in the same price range as items we now carry, are not cats and dogs," Burke said, "but reputable brands."

Burke said he expected a "large number" of other brands to be dropped from the list soon because they were failing to sell.

Mrs. Kringle returned Thursday to Long Island.

Second Service In Lenten Series Held

Rev. William H. Schobert, pastor of the First Baptist church, was the speaker at the second in a series of Lenten services held Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian church.

Discussing the subject, "Your Redemption—Its Cost," the Baptist clergyman told of the tremendous price exacted of the Savior that mankind might have forgiveness of sins.

Included in the service was a special musical number by the Presbyterian mixed quartet. Other Protestant ministers participated in various phases of the union service.

The third in the series will be held next Wedneesday evening at the Bethel Baptist church, with Rev. Fleck, district superintendent of the Free Methodist church, delivering the sermon on the topic "Your Redemption—Its Wonders."

The service will begin at 7:30 p. m., and will also include special music by one of the Methel Baptist choral groups.

The Lenten services are being sponsored by the Manistique Ministerial association.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our beloved son and brother who was taken from our family by death on January 16, 1948.

He little thought when leaving home
He would return no more,
That he in death so soon would sleep
And leave us here to mourn.
We do not know what pain he bore,
We did not see him die,
We only know he passed away
And could not say goodbye.

Sadly missed by his parents,

Mr. and Mrs. George Patrick,
Brothers and Sisters.

8976-47-1t

In loving memory of our dear husband, father, son and brother, Pvt. Charles Young, who was killed in action February 16, 1944.

Deep in our hearts you are today remembered,
Sweet, happy memories cling 'round your name;
True hearts that loved you with deepest affection,
Always will love you in death just the same.
We often sit and think of you, when we are alone,
For memory is the only friend, that grief can call its own.

Sadly missed by:

Wife, Mrs. Dorothy Young,
Son, Charles, Jr.,
Parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Young,
Brothers and Sisters.

Eskymo Cagers Play At Manistique Tonight

MANISTIQUE—Standing room is expected to be at a premium tonight when the Manistique Emeralds clash with their traditional rivals from Escanaba.

The basketball game, based on Manistique's record and the current power of the resurgent Eskymos, should be a ding-dong affair with plenty of fast action.

Coach Bob Hussey believes his men have the stuff to handle Escanaba but he is not nursing any false hopes. The Eskymos, after a wobbly start, have been on a winning rampage for several weeks.

Their outstanding feat was their close victory over Gladstone which earlier in the season trimmed the Emeralds.

Starters for Manistique will be Jerry Popour at center, Jerry Anderson and Dick Burnis, at forward, and Bob McNamara and George Hough at guard.

The varsity game is scheduled for 8:30. A preliminary between the Manistique seconds and Engadine high school will start at 7.

Al Rudness and Matt Vanni, of Negaunee, will officiate.

State Five Girds For Wolverines

EAST LANSING — (AP) — The Michigan State basketball team, top defensive outfit in the Western conference, will try to hold down Michigan again in the second meeting between the rivals here Saturday night.

The Spartans did their best defensive job of the season when they beat the Wolverines 49-36 in the last cage duel between the old enemies at Ann Arbor.

In Big Ten games the Spartans have held opponents to a 50.3 point per game average, edging out Indiana, next best defensively with 11 points allowed per contest. MSC rates seventh nationally in defense with a 47.6 point average.

Both Pulled Upsets

Michigan and Michigan State both manufactured upsets on their last time out Monday night. Michigan beat Minnesota and Michigan State took Northwestern by identical 52-48 scores.

In the Western conference standings Michigan State rates sixth a few notches above the eighth place Wolverines.

Michigan State will be crippled by the loss of Ray Steffen of Flint, expected to be sidelined Saturday by an ankle sprain. Steffen, the regular center, is the leading Spartan scorer and has been hitting for an average of 10 points a game.

Bob Carey, the all-around athlete from Charlevoix, is expected to get the assignment of trying to stop Michigan's high scoring Leo Vander Kuy in the pivot spot.

Tech Pucksters Lose To State

EAST LANSING — (AP)—Goalie Del Reid of Detroit fought off a last minute flurry of pucks to give Michigan State a 3-2 hockey win over Michigan Tech here last night.

The Spartans made two goals in the first period, Michigan Tech evened it up with two in the second and a final MSC goal in the third period accounted for the score. Reid saved the game for MSC by stopping seven shots in the last five minutes of play.

Bob Gorman and Bill Blair were the Spartan first period scorers and Bill Mc Cormick, with an assist from Blair, made the final goal. Mel Weir and Joe Di Bastiani scored for the Huskies in the second period.

Coaltown Favored In Santa Anita Race

ARCADIA, Calif.—(AP)—The magic name of Coaltown comes back to the turf tomorrow as the sentimental, if not the logical favorite in the $50,000 San Antonio handicap at Santa Anita park.

Leading eligibles for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap March 3 are slated to go postward in the mile and one-eighth fixture.

Such strong threats as Coaltown's stablemate, Ponder; Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Next Move, I. J. Collins' Vulcan's Forge, the King-Luellwitz stable's Moonrush, William Goetz' Australian champion, Bernbrook and others are included.

Nahma, Rock Win At Stephenson

STEPHENSON — Finals of the class B-C and D-E reserve team tournament will be held here Saturday night with Gladstone and Stephenson meeting at 8:30 and Rock and Nahma clashing at 7 o'clock. Both games are on slow time.

Nahma and Rock entered the finals by their victories last night over Powers and Felch while Gladstone had defeated Bark River and Stephenson tripped Menominee Tuesday night.

The feature game last night was a sudden death, double overtime tilt in which Rock nosed out Felch, 40-38 on a field goal by Norden. Rock had led all the way until the last 50 seconds when Dean of Felch put his team ahead on a field goal. But Micheau tied it up for Rock with a free throw just as the regulation game ended. In the first overtime period, the only scoring was offsetting free throws by Morin of Rock and Johnson of Felch. Then Norden delivered his game winning shot, his only scoring of the game.

Nahma Pulls Away

After a close first half, Nahma gradually pulled away from Powers to win 49-36. Nahma was paced by Popoure with 17 points. The game was a rough affair, two Nahma players and three from Powers going out on fouls.

Did you hear about the woman bowler who failed to knock down a single pin? . . . she went around bragging that she had made a no-hitter!

Tony Flynn says he has been getting a few kickbacks on his remarks about inattention by fans at high school basketball and Hawk games during the playing of the national anthem . . . we'd like to make a suggestion . . . perhaps there would be less inattention if the flag were displayed . . . after all, it's hard to play strict attention to a loud speaking system.

* * * * *

Incidentally, the Hawks come in for praise from Pops Crnkovich of the Houghton Mining Gazette . . . writes Pops: "The exhibition of hockey given by the Hawks against the Radars (new name for Calumet team) is what the fans like to see . . . although defeated 5 to 1, they were by no means pushovers and fans can readily understand why they're tough to beat on their own ice" . . . thanks Pops, on behalf of the Hawks . . . we think so, too.

* * * * *

See where Louisville has joined St. Paul, Kansas City and Grand Rapids in dropping out of the National Pro Basketball league after losing $120,000 . . . it's no wonder . . . the sooner the pro teams discover that fans like to see basketball instead of shooting exhibitions they may start to draw fans . . . there is nothing so monotonous as seeing five sharpshooters on both sides fire away at the basket without opposition from their foes on the floor.

Trainer Jim Hunt of the University of Michigan says Dick Kempthorn was one of the finest conditioned athletes he ever trained . . . The Killer's only fault was his headlong recklessness in tackling and blocking . . . said Hunt: "I shivered every time I watched him—not so much for Dick as for the other guy . . . Nobody I ever saw except Herb Joesting, the old Minnesota all-American, was so completely oblivious to punishment."

New K. of C. Alleys Open Tomorrow at 2

Tomorrow will be a red-letter day for Escanaba bowlers.

At 2 p. m., Dick Juetten, Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus council, will roll a bowling ball to cut the tape in the sparkling new Knights of Columbus bowling alleys.

The six modern Brunswick alleys then will be put into use by the public. They will be reserved for the Knights of Columbus bowlers only on Monday nights.

The alleys rank with the finest in the peninsula, being equipped with automatic foul line mechanism and semi-automatic pin spotting machines. Rest rooms for men and women are modern and well appointed. A snack bar is provided.

While permanent seats are not yet available, temporary seats will be in place tomorrow.

Harry Gafner will manage the alleys. Their opening give Escanaba bowlers three spots at which to indulge in their favorite sport. The others are the Arcade and the Elks alleys.

Grodesky To Jump In Ishpeming Meet

Johnny Grodesky, Escanaba ski jumper, will compete in the meet at Ishpeming this weekend. He is entered in class B-1. The North American jumps will be Saturday with the annual Ishpeming meet Sunday.

Boston Red Sox Head For Training Camp

BOSTON— (AP)— The Boston Red Sox vanguard entrains today for the Sarasota, Fla., training camp.

Manager Steve O'Neill will start working his pitchers and catchers Monday and before then it is likely that the club's seven unsigned players will come to terms.

GRADE SCHOOL SCHEDULE

Games tomorrow at the junior high school include: 9 a. m., Franklin and Barr; 10, St. Anne's and Washington; 11, Webster and Jefferson; 1 p. m., St. Joseph practice; 2, All Star practice.

Sooner Assistant Goes To Stanford

PALO ALTO, Calif—(AP)—Stanford's new football coach, Chuck Taylor, today completed his staff by hiring George Lynn, backfield mentor from potent Oklahoma, and Joe Reutz from St. Mary's which discontinued football.

Lynn will coach backs; Reutz, linemen.

Taylor, ex-assistant coach with the San Francisco pro 49ers, succeeds Marchie Schwartz, resigned.

Perkins Whips Powers, 54-36

Winds Up Season On Happy Note

POWERS—Spotting Powers a 13-5 lead in the first quarter, Perkins cagers forged ahead in the third period with a 24 point attack and won, 54-36, in the last game of the season for the Delta county boys.

While four Perkins players scored at least eight points, Ed Harris led the group with 16 points. His scoring efforts were topped, however, by Bob Lawrence of Powers, who netted 18 points.

Alfred Krouth of Perkins was ejected on five fouls in the last period.

Perkins graders won the preliminary, 24-23.

Robinson Eyes Light Heavy Crown

CHICAGO — (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson would like to stack the light heavyweight boxing crown on top of two others he claims to wear.

Robinson, welterweight champion since late in 1946, blasted Jake LaMotta out from under the middleweight championship Wednesday night and inherited LaMotta's title.

He and his manager, George Gainford, immediately said they wanted more of the same from Joey Maxim, light heavyweight champ.

They also declared that Robinson still held his welterweight championship.

This didn't jibe with the thinking of spokesmen for both the New York and Illinois Athletic commissions. They insisted Sugar Ray automatically abdicated as welter king when his hand was raised above the stricken LaMotta after 13 bruising rounds in the Chicago Stadium.

A return match for the middleweight championship between Robinson and LaMotta is doubtful. But he has a contractual right to fight for the title within 90 days. LaMotta complained that making the 160-pound weight for the match with Sugar Ray had weakened him. Observers are convinced he has outgrown the middleweight division.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing club which sponsored Wednesday night's fight, said "it's unfair to make Jake make the weight."

Al Weill, IBC matchmaker, indicated a LaMotta-Maxim fight was in the works. Jake didn't reveal his own plans, if any. He left yesterday for New York, where he probably will talk with Norris about future fights.

Norris said yesterday: "I'd like to put him (LaMotta) in with Maxim."

That is precisely what Manager Gainford would like to do with Sugar Ray. Gainford said:

"Sure we'd like to fight Maxim. It's the big money match. We've been after him for a year. There's a chance of our fighting Maxim this summer."

Thus, Robinson, suffering growing pains in the welterweight division, and the vanquished LaMotta, finding 160-pound weight strictures a definite liability, both are gazing upward covetously at tough Maxim.

Aware of this, Joey himself was looking up and beyond—toward the crown of heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles.

Both Joey and his manager, Jack Kearns, expressed willingness for Maxim to meet either Robinson or LaMotta — if the Charles fight, which Kearns said has been promised him for June, doesn't go through.

Ben Artwich Helps Stambo Tip Indians

GLADSTONE—The Stambaugh hockey team recruited Ben Artwich, Escanaba Hawks' regular goalie, last night and he was almost invincible in the nets as Stambaugh tripped Gladstone Indians, 12-3.

The victory put Stambaugh back in a tie with Gladstone, which went into first place in the U. P. Amateur league last Sunday with a win over Stambaugh.

Stambaugh took a 3-1 lead in the first period on goals by B. Wercinski, M. Mastie and J. King. Gladstone's score came on a goal by Wally Lake on an assist by Marvin Erickson.

In the second period, Stambaugh stretched it to 6-1 with goals by E. Kukuk, D. Serbinski and Wercinski.

Goals by Erickson and Lake on assists by Robert Lake and Jim Rose for Gladstone in the final period were offset by Stambaugh scores by R. Beaudin, King, E. Baker, Mastie and W. Melchiori.

Referee Jim Rattray dished out penalties to Gordon Haga, Rose, E. DeHate and L. Artwich.

PGA Ready To Punish Recalcitrants

HARLINGEN, Tex — (AP) — The PGA tournament committee cleared the decks today for disciplinary action against rebellious golfers playing in the Mexican national open.

Fortified by an endorsement of tournament players here, the committee looked toward a showdown next week at the Houston open.

The golfers, headed by Jimmie Demaret, are liable to suspension or fine or both, the committee has said.

The field in the $10,000 Rio Grande Valley open meanwhile chased Marty Furgol, and Demaret and Stan Dudas headed the classic at Mexico City.

Tops Par By Six

Furgol yesterday whipped par by six strokes over the muddy 6,095-yard Harlingen municipal course and his 65 stood up as the lead.

He was just one stroke ahead of veteran Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., and Chuck Klein of San Antonio, Tex., when 125 players of the original field of 146 answered the call to the tee today.

At Mexico City Demaret and Dudas each had a 68—four under par for the 6,364 yard Chapultepec course—in the opening round.

Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina and Amado Martinez, top Mexican player, each scored 69. Tony Holguin of San Antonio, defending champion, turned in a 69 and Al Besselink of Mt. Clemens, Mich., a 71.

The PGA claims the event isn't a recognized championship tournament and conflicts with the Rio Grande open.

Some Stars Fail

Some of the top-rated Rio Grande fellows failed to get into the par-cracking bracket. Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, for instance, did an even par 71 as did E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Andrews, Ill., the Texas open champion. Mangrum, leading money-winner of the year, has been the big favorite for $2,000 first money here.

Jack Burke, Jr. of Houston, another favorite—he's the defending champion—did quite all right He had a two-under par 69 and was in seventh place, in good position. A stroke better were Ed Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich., and Max Evans of Detroit. John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., had 70.

Tonight the field will be out to the low 60 shooters and ties. They will go into the final 36 holes tomorrow and Sunday.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Although the Ohio house of representatives "requested" Ohio State university to televise its football games next fall, one observer from Big Ten territory figures it's just an empty gesture . . . His idea is that legislators have introduced TV bills in various states just to please their constituents and don't really expect anything to come of them . . . And even though the NCAA moratorium is "as unenforceable as was the sanity code," this gent figures the Big Ten will vote next week to comply with it completely, including the experimental telecasts . . . Still on the air: Jack Weisenburger, Michigan's former Rose bowl fullback who'll soon be heading for the Braves baseball camp, made such a hit with his high school football broadcasts on a Muskegon station last fall that several sponsors are interested in having him air all of the U. of Michigan games this year . . . And another fullback, Virginia's Johnny Papit, has his own platter-spinning program and has taken over all sports announcing for WCHV in Charlottesville, Va.

Hand Him A Line

Jim O'Hora of the Penn State football coaching staff, found out he was a pretty good cook, housekeeper and baby-sitter when his wife, Betts, wasn't feeling well recently . . . For several days Jim took care of the chores, then reluctantly took off for a brief banquet tour . . . The first night out when Jim was ready for bed, he noticed a rustle of paper in his pajama pocket . . . Investigating, he found a note from Betts: "Thanks for being a swell guy. Some day I'll coach the line for you."

Tod Sloan Star In Toronto Tie

(By The Associated Press)

Aloysius Martin Sloan, better known to hockey fans as Tod, has the misfortune of playing right wing in the same league as Detroit's Gordie Howe of Detroit and Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal.

The 23-year-old Toronto Maple Leafs star is running up a record that rates more than casual mention. The little guy demonstrated his dependability again last night by scoring a goal as Toronto played to a 2-2 tie with the Montreal Canadiens.

It was Sloan's 27th goal of the season, only two less than Howe and five below Richard, who was held scoreless last night. In addition it moved Sloan into a tie with Richard for fourth place in the NHL point standings.

Another player who came up with an eye-catching performance last night was Don (Bones) Raleigh, who figured in six goals as the New York Rangers defeated the last-place Chicago Black Hawks, 7-3. He scored two goals and assisted on four others.

The victory moved the Rangers into third place, one point ahead of Montreal and two points ahead of Boston.

Ferris Tips Alma In Stiff Battle

BIG RAPIDS — (AP)—Alma put up a stiff battle in the first half, knotting the count five times, before Ferris institute poured in the points to win 81-72 in a basketball game here last night.

Ferris went ahead two minutes before the half ended with a 32-30 advantage and led the rest of the game.

Gene Wright with 19 points and Don Johnson with 18 were high scorers for Ferris. Bob Peuschner paced Alma with 23 points while his teammate, Bob Saxton, had 18.

Check-Forging Wave In District, Police Warn

A wave of check forging by teen-agers of the district has been reported to the Escanaba Police Department, with several cases now under investigation. Merchants in Escanaba and outlying districts are asked by Chief of Police Ettenhofer to be on the lookout for offenders and to call the Police Department at once in case of suspicion.

Shipments Of British Rubber To Russians Kept Under Scrutiny

LONDON—(AP)—Britain's Labor government, needled by the Conservatives for shipping vital Malayan rubber to Russia and her satellites, has promised to review its policy if the flow becomes too large.

Board of trade president Harold Wilson gave this assurance yesterday after Conservative M. P. A. T. Lennox-Boyd asked in the House of Commons whether the government had stopped shipping rubber to Russia and Communist China.

"We are keeping a watch on the situation," Wilson said, "and if there are any large, undue movements of rubber, we should have to reconsider the situation."

Last year Russia received 64,694 tons of Malayan rubber by the end of October, 1950,—an increase of more than 1,000 tons over the shipment for all of 1949. Wilson disclosed that Malayan rubber exports to Red China totaled 9,302 tons in November, 1950, and 7,180 tons in December.

Army Deserter Free

CHICAGO—(AP)—Herbert Newberg, 39, who surrendered as an army deserter, was free today to return to his refrigator sales and service business in Sacramento, Calif. Newberg went awol from Fort Custer, Mich., in 1940. In releasing him army authorities said peacetime desertion cannot be prosecuted after three years under federal statutes.

Red Aid Bared In IPR Papers

Seized Records Show Moscow Donation

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Mundt (R-S. D.) said today documents originally among those seized in a Massachusetts raid by Senate internal security investigators "indicate a $2,500 contribution from Moscow to the Institute of Pacific Relations."

William Holland, the institute's secretary-general, commented in New York it was "entirely logical" that a receipt of the kind Mundt mentioned would be included in the IPR records being studied by a Senate judiciary subcommittee.

Holland said the $2,500 "undoubtedly" was one of the annual assessments paid by the Russian council to the international institute some time during the period 1934-39, the years the Soviet council was affiliated with the IPR.

The institute made up of an American and several other national councils, was organized about 1925 for the stated purpose of studying the peoples of the Far East and Pacific area with a view to improving their mutual relations.

The institute figured prominently in last year's Senate inquiry into the Communists-in-government charges of Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.), who contended some IPR officials followed the Communist line and that others were Communists.

Arkansas 30th State To Ratify Limit On President's Tenure

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP)—Arkansas ratified yesterday a proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution limiting the president to two full terms. It was the 30th state to do so.

When and if six more states approve, making a three-fourths majority of the states, the amendment will become law.

The amendment will not affect President Truman, but any future president would be limited to a maximum of 10 years in office. A vice president succeeding to the presidency would not be allowed to run for a second full term if he served more than two years of an unexpired term.

Minor Crime Draft Dodgers Get Rough Going In Pontiac

PONTIAC, Mich.— (AP) —Any young man attempting to evade the draft by committing a minor crime will find rough going here.

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland said in an interview yesterday such an offender will be "dealt with harshly—that is sent to jail."

"Evading service by criminal act is a double crime," the judge said. Draft evaders, he said, would not be freed on probation for minor offenses.

Probation Officer Arthur P. McKenna said he will check with draft boards of any young offenders. He added in some cases court jurisdiction might be waived to permit their being drafted.

Bachelor L. P. Fisher Reveals Marriage

DETROIT—The marriage last July 3 of bachelor Lawrence P. Fisher, of the fabulous automotive family, and Mrs. Dolly Roach, of Monroe, Mich., was revealed at an announcement dinner at Fisher's fashionable home here last night.

It was the first marriage for the 62-year-old Fisher, fourth of the seven brothers of Fisher Body fame.

Fisher and Mrs. Roach were married in a Catholic ceremony at his summer home at Watersmeet, Mich., by Father Casper Douenburg. The marriage announcement was made by the Most Rev. Allen J. Babcock, auxiliary bishop of Detroit.

Wave Of Influenza Spreads In Canada

TORONTO—(AP) —Canada's flu epidemic spread today to 25 new centers in Ontario and many schools and factories throughout the country were closed down.

Government health officials said they believe the influenza in Canada may be the same deadly kind—known as prime A type—that has spread death to nearly 8,000 in Britain in the last few months. But they said they could not be certain until week-long laboratory tests are made.

Although the epidemic has been widespread, less than 100 deaths have been reported thus far, with Montreal, Canada's largest city, the heaviest hit.

Labor Members Of WSB Walk Out On Wage Ceiling

tile workers. His union called a strike today by 70,000 woolen and worsted mill workers seeking a wage boost.

Denounced As Unfair

The other two labor members are Elmer E. Walker, president of the machinists union, recently reaffiliated with the AFL, and president H. C. Bates of the AFL Bricklayers. Actually, Bates has been absent from the wage board's long discussions, and his place was taken by John J. Murphy, vice-president of his union.

What course organized labor would take was up in the air. Rieve denounced the new formula as "unfair and unworkable" and it appeared that the labor policy committee would endorse his stand.

If it did so and if it declined to suggest the names of substitute labor members for the wage board, speculation was that the entire setup would have to be revised. Without labor representation, unions might feel freer to strike to back up wage demands than if they had a direct hand in fixing policy.

Program Jeopardized

It appeared possible the government would have to scrap the present three-part board, which is headed by Cyrus S. Ching, and substitute for it a panel of members all designated as representing the public.

That would take time and—because prices cannot effectively be controlled unless wages are too—might jeopardized the whole program.

The impact of the split-up was not made any the less severe by the fact that the wage board's policy is only a recommendation, which still must be approved by Stabilization Director Eric Johnston.

The formula is the result of discussions which have been in progress ever since the government on Jan. 26 froze wages and salaries at Jan. 25, levels.

Fringe Benefits Excluded

As it emerged, it was something of a compromise. The industry members had suggested an eight per cent ceiling. Labor held out for 12. Ching and his public members colleagues had advanced nine as a way out, later went up to ten.

The ten per cent ceiling would allow wage hikes up to ten per cent over the Jan. 15, 1950, base date. The ceiling would not interfere with any larger increases already in effect.

The figure would not include any so-called fringe benefits — pension plans, welfare funds and so on—granted before Johnston signed the order. Any negotiated later would have to be included.

The board majority said it realized there were some inequities or "catch-up problems" in the wage picture which might affect the national defense picture.

Its policy, it said, was to take care of "disparities between increases in wages and salaries and the increase in the cost of living since Jan. 15, 1950 or which may subsequently arise during the period covered by this policy."

Lansing Arson Trial Speeded

Examination Waived By Young Father

LANSING — (AP) — Richard C. Shay, 19-year-old state highway department employe charged with setting the state office building fire, made a surprise appearance in municipal court here today where he waived examination.

Shay was bound over for arraignment in circuit court Monday.

He previously had demanded examination on two counts of arson, one charging him with "wilfully and maliciously" setting fire to the building and the other charging him with burning the building contents.

The change of plea will have the effect of speeding up the trial and sentencing. Shay previously was not scheduled to be arraigned on the charge until Feb. 23.

The chubby, 19-year-old youth, a former Eagle scout, told police he set the fire because he feared he would be drafted before he was able to make provisions for the care of his wife and daughter.

His plan was to set only a small fire, he said, because he heard the army would not take men with criminal records. He protested that he was not a firebug and had no intention of causing a major blaze.

Shay faces a sentence of up to ten years on each arson count.

Iron Ore Reserves Of Upper Peninsula Worth $68,876,000

LANSING — (AP) — Michigan's 1951 iron ore reserves are estimated at 161,926,000 tons with a valuation of $68,876,000, the state conservation department said today.

This compares with a 1950 estimate of 149,803,000 tons valued at $61,384,000.

The valuation of the state's copper reserve—increasingly important to the defense effort—was estimated at $4,132,000. The valuation was set at $3,580,000 last year. The Houghton county 1951 valuation is $3,087,000 and the Keweenaw county valuation is $1,045,000.

Iron ore deposit valuations by county include Marquette, $29,821,000; Iron, $22,360,000; Gogebic, $16,523,000, and Dickinson, $152,000.

Armies Of European Allies To Double In Year, Says Acheson

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Secretary of State Acheson said today "the combat forces of our European allies may be expected to double in the next year."

He gave no figures in prepared testimony calling upon the Senate foreign relations and armed services committees to support the Truman administration's plan to send 100,000 additional United States troops to Europe to bolster defenses against Communist aggression.

Acheson said the United States must use the time it has—by virtue of its lead over Russia in air power and atomic weapons — to build up with its allies "balanced collective forces" needed to deter aggression.

He added that "the value of our lead" in atomic weapons will decline but he said balanced land, sea and air forces in Western Europe will help offset the loss of that advantage.

Acheson said America's allies "are now taking steps which bring us measurably closer to realization of our ultimate goal" of an adequate defense force.

"Roughly speaking," he went on, "the combat forces of our European allies may be expected to double in the next year."

Secretary of Defense George Marshall told the committees yesterday of the plan to send to Europe four more American divisions plus supporting troops to reinforce the two already in Germany.

Marshall's disclosure of the definite figures took much of the steam out of the opposition in the troops-to-Europe controversy. The size of the forces contemplated was smaller than had been anticipated.

Allied Troops Still Have UN Authority To Cross Parallel 38

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman says Allied troops in Korea still have the same United Nations authority to cross the 38th parallel that they exercised in driving over it last year.

Any future incursion beyond that line, he told his news conference yesterday, is a matter of military strategy and as such is in the hands of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Mr. Truman added that there also were political aspects involved in such a crossing but he didn't care to comment on those now. He expressed his views on the controversial point in response to reporters' questions.

The British have been trying to keep the Korean fighting as limited as possible and are reported opposed to crossing the 38th. Prime Minister Attlee told the Houes of Commons last Monday that U. N. forces should be kept south of the dividing line until there is "full consultation with the U. N."

Since then, however, the U. N. forces have landed a party of South Korean marines on two islands off Wonsan, far north of the old dividing line between North and South Korea.

Jackson Tots Play Rough; Six-Year-Old Beaten, Left On Ice

JACKSON — (AP)—Six-year-old Patrick Robb was treated at a hospital here today for exposure, cuts on his head and face and possible skull fracture.

The boy told police he was beaten, kicked and pushed into waist deep water by two other six-year-old boys.

He was unconscious and frozen to the ice when found by his grandmother.

Police questioned the small-fry assailants but were unable to get a coherent story from them.

Old German Embassy In Washington For Sale To High Bidder

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The old German embassy, home of Hitler's and the Kaiser's diplomatic representatives, is about to be sold.

Bids on the old place, a thing of no beauty, were to be opened today. The justice department then has 45 days to accept, or reject, the best offer.

The money eventually will go to the war claims commission, and will be used, among other things, to pay claims of American prisoners of war.

In calling for offers, the justice department acted as enthusiastic as any peddler of real estate. It gave this description:

"Valuable downtown location, 1435-41 Massachusetts Avenue, N. W., improvements of brick construction, consisting of 70 rooms, large ballroom, 13 baths and 5 additional toilet rooms, garages and storage space; situated on plot containing 20,000 square feet.

"The property is ideally located and offers unusual opportunities for development. The neighborhood is improving . . ."

Allied Bayonets Stop Red Flank Assault In Korea

reported some of the Reds infiltrated three miles through South Korean positions but fled after a 55-minute hand - to - hand encounter.

The communique said another force of some 1,000 Chinese was moving toward Chechon on a twisting mountain trail eight miles northwest of the town.

Buildup In Hills

The flanking development came after a chips-down battle at Chipyong, 20 air miles northwest of Wonju. Allied reinforcements bolstered the finger-in-the-dike force of French and Americans at Chipyong that badly crippled three Chinese divisions in checking the main Red push on the central front earlier this week.

To the east of Chipyong, an American-Dutch force stood off massing Red forces above Wonju. Some of those Communists were believed to have taken to the high ridges in the southeast to threaten Chechon. The Reds had no artillery support in their new threat.

But a menacing build-up of Chinese and Korean Red forces was beyond Chipyong and Wonju.

Overwork Fatal

LAWRENCE — (AP) — Frank Bradley, 29, died of a heart attack at the wheel of his milk truck Wednesday. A physician said Bradley, father of two children, had been overworking by holding a night shift job in a Van Buren county factory in addition to his truck driving.

Last year, Michigan's commercial vehicles paid the state nearly $30,000,000 in motor fuel, weight, and other special taxes.

Last year, the State of Michigan's total expenses for repair and maintenance of trunk lines was just over $12,000,000.

Thus commercial vehicles paid taxes for their use of the highways totalling 2½ times the state's cost of maintaining and repairing all trunk highways.
